Neill Urges Deportation Of Japanese After War; Ban on New Immigration

Comox-Alberni Member Asks Improvement in Old-Age Pensions—Mayhew Suggests Planning

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP).—A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni) tonight in the House of Commons urged deportation of Japanese after the war and a guarantee against further Japanese immigration into Canada. The British Columbia member also said he supported an increase in old-age pensions and a lowering of the age at which they are granted.

He was speaking in debate on a Government motion to set up a committee to study reconstruction and re-establishment.

The men overseas would expect the Government to act in matters like adjusting the old-age pension rather than only speaking about it. As a demonstration of good faith in what the Government was to do, the necessary legislation of old-age pensions should be brought in at the present session.

Mr. Neill said in urging deportation of Japanese after the war and a guarantee against further Japanese immigration, that decision on these points should be made immediately and that decision should be written into peace treaties.

The Japanese had been sent to Canada as part of the infiltration policy of their Government.

There had been Japanese "cheap labor," but care of Japanese dealt with on the Pacific Coast since 1941 had cost $5,000,000 and this cost would be greatly increased before the end of the war.

It would not be possible to deport Japanese who claimed British citizenship in peacetime and it was necessary to make provision for this action in peace agreements.

"DON'T WANT ONE OF THEM"

After the war under present arrangements 24,000 Japanese would be assembled in British Columbia and "we don't want one of them." Present plans were that Japanese sent to other provinces to work would be returned to British Columbia when peace came. There was fear of "serious trouble" at the coast if Japanese were allowed to return.

The Japanese were "smart" and wanted to dominate in areas where they lived. If the Japanese in other provinces were allowed the vote, British Columbia eventually would be forced to make a similar concession. Then the Japanese would act to have all restrictions against them removed.

Unless Japanese immigration had been restricted before the war there might have been "50,000 trained Japanese soldiers" on the coast who had come in as immigrants. If the Japanese were given the vote in British Columbia they would control all the area west of the Rockies in twenty years, Mr. Neill said.

The Japanese Government favored a "heathenism"-in the fixed religion. The day was past when "well-backed heathenism" should be encouraged in Canada.

"For God's sake let us take this opportunity when we have the chance," said Mr. Neill referring to his proposal for deportation of Japanese after the war.

Mr. Neill said he protested "the hidebound party political machinery" used in the appointment of select house committees. Of the thirteen standing committees of the house he believed six or seven did not sit last year at all. They had died an "inspired death."

Mr. Neill said that "if one wanted to be cynical" it might be suggested that when a subject came up which the Government felt could not be safely entrusted to the proper standing committee the committee was sidetracked, and "a special hand-picked committee" appointed solely by those on the Government benches and desiring to stay there and by those on this side of the House (Opposition) equally willing to take up the reins of office."

Mr. Neill said that in twenty-one years he had never had an opportunity to serve on any special committee and the standing committees of which he was a member had not met.

MAYHEW SPEAKS ON PLANNING

R. W. Mayhew (Lib., Victoria, B.C.) said that if there had been adequate planning for peace in the first Great War the present position might have been avoided and the war postponed.

He had thought that Pensions Minister Mackenzie would head the rehabilitation programme because he started it, but now he understood it was to be a matter for the whole Cabinet.

"I think that is a mistake," said Mr. Mayhew.

"If we are to rebuild Canada as we want to rebuild it, this plan will require a driving force greater than has ever been presented to the Government before."

The construction of roads and buildings would not be enough, and there must be clearing of slums from cities, rebuilding of Prairie homes, construction of power dams on rivers and electric lights and power available to everyone. Railways should be electrified and there should be a merchant marine and adequate air transport.

Mr. Mayhew said there should be a declaration on whether the Canadian Navy would be retained "or whether we are still going to be sheltered under the Monroe Doctrine."

Similar statements of policy were required on the future of the air force.

F. D. Shaw (N.D., Red Deer) in discussing C.C.F. reconstruction proposals said Government monopoly could become more vicious than private monopoly.

T. J. O'Neill (Lib., Kamloops) said that many things that were being left to the committee could be dealt with now. One thing was to provide cost-of-living bonuses to all people at an even rate regardless of what they were earning.

It was illogical that great quantities of steel and coal were being hauled across Canada to British Columbia when there were ample resources there waiting only development. British Columbia had unlimited water power resources. Its land could produce anything that could be produced in Canada.

WOULD INITIATE PROPOSALS NOW

If the Government was sincere it would initiate these things now. No committee was necessary to do it, nor to give old-age pensioners a reasonable rate. No power should require any person to work after they are sixty-five years of age nor should they be asked to live on less than $1 a day.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said he agreed with Mr. O'Neill that the test of the sincerity of Parliament in setting up this committee would be the consideration it gave to problems that could be dealt with at once.

Mr. Coldwell read a letter from a man recently invalided home from overseas and discharged, finding himself without pension and without work or enough allowance to prepare him for work if he could get it.

Personally, I do not believe a depression after this war is necessary if we plan for the proper development of our industry and resources, said Mr. Coldwell.

In any planning adequate representation of farmers and labor, the two great producing groups of Canada, should be provided on advisory and administrative bodie.

Industrial and economic planning should be initiated by the Government and not left to private industry and to private initiative, said Mr. Coldwell. In this he said he differed with Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill University, chairman of the Rehabilitation Committee of Citizens set up last year at the instance of Pensions Minister Mackenzie to report on post-war problems.

Mr. Coldwell quoted at length from the James report and from opinions given the committee by Dr. James.

Increase of agricultural production in quantity and variety, coupled with provision and maintenance of marketing facilities was advocated Mr. Coldwell said. He was convinced that after the war, when communications and transport could be re-established every kernel of wheat Canada could provide would be needed somewhere.

HUGE BOMBERS DOWN EIGHTY NAZI PLANES NEAR TUNIS

A pall of oily, black smoke (centre) marks the "bag" of United States Army Air Force bomber wing which just raided installations and fuel dumps at the Axis airport at El Auina, near Tunis. The huge bombers which carried out the raid have reformed into formation and are winging their way home. In addition, reconnaissance revealed, at least eighty Nazi planes caught napping were destroyed.

An appeal for support of the Canadian Red Cross was made by Hubert Lethaby.

Appeals for Support for Red Cross

An appeal for millions of Canadians to join in supporting their Red Cross was issued yesterday by Jackson Dodds, chairman of the society's central council on the opening day of the national campaign to raise $10,000,000 to continue the world-wide work of the organization.

"Only through the support of the millions of our citizens can we be assured that all vital obligations of the Red Cross will be accomplished," Mr. Dodds said. "The Red Cross belongs to our nation. Its support comes from voluntary contributions of men and women, and its services on the war front and the home front are carried out by about one million volunteers. It is a privilege to give to the Red Cross and to work for it. A small lapel pin with a Red Cross against a white background will be a badge of honor worn by millions of us in the next four weeks.

"We can be with our men on the war front only in spirit, but we can be of practical help to them through the Red Cross. Your contributions mean food from home for our prisoners of war, medical supplies for our hospitals and comforts and assistance for the men in the armed forces and merchant navy. Our budget this year calls for $4,500,000 for prisoners of war food parcels packed by volunteer workers in the society's five plants. Besides caring for our own prisoners, the Canadian Red Cross makes a direct donation to the British Red Cross of thirty thousand parcels weekly. The remainder of our budget is to provide hospital supplies and comforts for the armed forces to help nurse and feed war victims in Britain.

"Canadian Red Cross relief has closely followed the path of global war and all of the United Nations have received the benefits of the Canadian people through the society. For example, the Soviet Union has received supplies valued at $2,000,000 during the past year. Assistance has also been sent to the Greeks, Poles, Chinese, Dutch and Czechoslovakians.

"I am confident every citizen in our nation will want to have a part in this work through giving to the Red Cross Budget in his community," concluded Mr. Dodds.

Ottawa Seats To Be Cut to 238 Members

New Census Figures Base Next Election

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP).—After the next Federal election Parliament will have only 238 members instead of 245 as a result of redistribution of seats which will cut Manitoba's representation by three members and Saskatchewan's by four.

These figures were made public some time ago on the basis of incomplete returns from the 1941 decennial census. Now the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has confirmed them.

"The representation in the next House of Commons will be determined on the basis of the census of 1941," the bureau said. Its interim calculations from the final census figures and Yukon Territory will be entitled to the following representation in Parliament:

Prince Edward Island four; Nova Scotia twelve; New Brunswick, ten; Quebec sixty-five; Ontario eighty-two; Manitoba fourteen; Saskatchewan seventeen; Alberta seventeen; British Columbia sixteen; Yukon Territory one. Total 238.

The only required changes from the present Parliament are for Manitoba, represented in the present Parliament by seventeen members and Saskatchewan, represented by twenty-one.

MUST MAKE CHANGES PROMPTLY

During the Throne Speech debate a considerable number of Western members urged that redistribution be postponed on grounds that there have been temporary shifts of population as a result of the war. But Prime Minister Mackenzie King has indicated his belief that the British North America Act requires that redistribution be carried out promptly.

The Bureau of Statistics calculations are based on census returns showing that Canada's population at June 2, 1941 was 11,506,655, compared with 10,376,786 at the 1931 census date, shown among the provinces as follows, figure in brackets:

Prince Edward Island 95,047 (88,038), Nova Scotia 577,962 (512,846), New Brunswick 457,401 (408,219), Quebec 3,331,882 (2,874,662), Ontario 3,787,655 (3,431,683), Manitoba 729,744 (700,139), Saskatchewan 936,421 (921,785), Alberta 796,169 (731,605), British Columbia 817,861 (694,263), Yukon 4,914 (4,230), Northwest Territories 12,849 (9,316).

The Northwest Territories figure includes Labrador, not represented in the House.

Commenting on the 1941 census figures, Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta pointed out that the rate of growth was smaller than the rate for Canada as a whole.

Prince Edward Island had 8.04 per cent of the Dominion's population in 1941 as against 8.26 per cent in 1931; Nova Scotia 5.02 per cent in 1941 as against 5.04 per cent in 1931; New Brunswick 3.97 per cent in 1941 as against 3.94 per cent in 1931; Quebec 28.96 per cent in 1941 as against 27.70 per cent in 1931; Ontario 32.93 per cent in 1941 as against 33.06 per cent in 1931; Manitoba 6.34 per cent in 1941 as against 6.75 per cent in 1931; Saskatchewan 8.14 per cent in 1941 as against 8.88 per cent in 1931; Alberta 6.92 per cent in 1941 as against 7.04 per cent in 1931; British Columbia 7.11 per cent in 1941 as against 6.69 per cent in 1931; Yukon .04 per cent in 1941 as against .04 per cent in 1931; Northwest Territories .11 per cent in 1941 as against .09 per cent in 1931.

Increase Price Of Newsprint

Canadian Companies Act Immediately

NEW YORK, March 1 (CP).—Canadian International Paper Company, largest producer of newsprint, announced today that it is increasing its prices of newsprint by $4 a ton to a basis of $54 New York, immediately.

This action followed the joint announcement of the Canadian and United States Governments during the week-end that the ceiling price would be raised $4 a ton effective March 1.

Paper circles here expected other newsprint producers in Canada and sources of three-quarters of the United States supply would take the same action as Canadian International.

ABITIBI COMPANY TAKES ACTION

TORONTO, March 1 (CP).—Abitibi Power & Paper Company, Ltd., is taking immediate advantage of the joint action by the Prices Board and the Office of Price Administration in Washington, permitting an increase of $4 per ton in newsprint prices, C. T. Clarkson, receiver and general manager, said today.

"The increased price will naturally go into effect today," Mr. Clarkson said, "and customers are being notified to that effect."

CONSOLIDATED CORP. FOLLOWS SUIT

MONTREAL, March 1 (CP).—Officials of the Consolidated Paper Corporation today announced they had informed clients of price increases of $4 a ton for newsprint.

Prices will be increased on shipments as of March 1 and until further notice.

At Quebec, Col. C. H. L. Jones, president of Price Brothers & Co., Ltd., said today that due to "tremendous" increase in production costs, he believed the newsprint industry would generally take advantage immediately of the Prices Board's order permitting an increase of $4 a ton in newsprint prices.

Mrs. A. F. [illegible], Rennie, Man.

"I have found mustard a wonderful help in getting rid of pains, especially in the back," said Mrs. F. A. Ans, of Rennie, Manitoba. "When my husband had lumbago I put on a big plaster and it was a decided help, in fact, he was able to work the next day. The warmth of the mustard seemed to drive the pain right out.

"I have found mustard poultices a really helper in many other ways. When my children were young and one would complain of any real ache or stomach ache, often all that was needed was a little warmth and a light poultice usually helped to clear up the condition in short order. The proportions I used were one tablespoon of mustard to four tablespoons of flour. That makes a soft poultice and it can be left on up to twenty minutes or until the skin begins to get warm and pink.

Children Subject to Colds When Teething

"A curious thing happened when two of my children were cutting their teeth," continued Mrs. Ans. "They got a deep chest cold every time they cut a tooth. It may be that the teething reduced their resistance. Wherever I saw the baby's chest was filling up, I made a little mustard poultice with six tablespoons of flour and one of mustard moistened with water. I put it on a piece of clean linen, folded it over and, when I felt it a little while on baby's chest, it helped clear the tubes in a few hours."

Poultice Soon Opens Pores

For children or adults it is difficult to remove mucus from the air passages when the chest is congested, but a mustard poultice in this warmth and helps relieve congestion. The ideal treatment is to stay in bed until the period of congestion is cleared up. In severe cases, where immediate treatment is required before the doctor arrives, a strong poultice should be made and applied without delay. The abundant protection mustard is reliable in treating many ailments is the fact that thousands, like Mrs. Ans, use it year after year. Let mustard help to relieve you when you have colds or colds, or when you feel depressed by grippe or some other Winter infection.

City Council to Plan Rehabilitation Work

Committee Appointed to Prepare Waterworks and Public Work Projects

POSTWAR rehabilitation projects will immediately be outlined by the City Council, it was decided at a meeting yesterday afternoon. Mayor Andrew McGavin appointed Aldermen John A. Worthington and Edward Williams members of the business, trade and re-establishment committee to make plans for waterworks and public works undertakings.

know why the re-establishment committee had not presented a list of undertakings to the Provincial Government Rehabilitation Council. Alderman B. J. Gadsden replied that certain projects required the co-operation of outside municipalities, and the engineer proposed to prepare plans for long-term work.

Mayor McGavin declared such plans should have been made eighteen months ago by the re-establishment committee. He recommended that R. H. Smith, assistant engineer, prepare specifications for a rock tunnel to replace the Sooke Lake pipeline.

Alderman W. H. Davies regretted that city department heads had not submitted lists of proposed work to the various council committees. Mayor McGavin reminded committee chairmen they had not submitted any data to the council as a whole. Alderman F. A. Wills pointed out the Aged Men's Home needed extending, but wondered if the Government would assist. Alderman Archie Wills suggested the council ask the Government for a grant to beautify the city through postwar projects.

MAYOR CLOSES DEBATE ON POSTWAR PORK

In closing the debate on postwar work, the mayor stated: "I do not know whether our four local members of Parliament are asleep or not. Members for other constituencies seem able to get far more for their districts than our representatives."

W. Percy Wright, assistant city clerk, was promoted to the position of assistant secretary of standing committees.

It was agreed to support a plea of St. Joseph's Hospital to the regional coal administrator for special grades of coal required by the institution.

An invitation to attend a special centenary service in Christ Church Cathedral at 11 o'clock next Sun-

[illegible] was accepted from Rt. Rev. H. E. Sexton, Bishop of Columbia. A letter from the Minister of Munitions and Supply reminded the council of the urgent need for conservation of materials for war needs, and was received in reply to several applications for permission to repair and alter city-owned houses. Aldermen expressed dissatisfaction at the answer.

On motion of Alderman Wills the finance committee was asked to report on the possibility of making a grant to the Red Cross. Alderman Worthington asked the mayor to urge citizens to support the drive for funds, and also post notices for the benefit of civic employees.

Aldermen Davies, Morgan, Williams, McTavish and Gadsden were asked to report on a request from the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for payment of $1,000 on account of any grant that might be made by the estimates committee. The committee will deal with a bureau request for an annual grant of $6,000.

REVENUE OF MARKET SHOWS SMALL GAIN

It was revealed that public market revenue of $7,321.72 showed an increase of $38.32 over that of 1941. Scales revenue of $2,418.64 for 1942 showed an increase of $723.48 over that of the previous year.

The water board was told to deal with a petition asking for better water pressure in the vicinity of Begbie, Shakespeare and Pembroke Streets and Stanley Avenue. An amount of $2,000 for a new school board road to the technical unit was taken from school extraordinary estimates and classed as a public works item.

J. D. Crowther was superannuated from the fire department. J. W. McConnell, electric light department, and George A. Okell, assessor, also due for superannuation, were re-engaged for the duration of the war.

Forrest L. Shaw, city solicitor, was asked to prepare a public morals by-law to provide heavy penalties in cases of police court convictions for profane swearing, making use of indecent, obscene, blasphemous or grossly insulting language, and acts of indecency and immorality.

Four pneumatic jack hammers to cost $1,000 were ordered for the public works department. Alderman Williams suggested spending $12,055.17 for a new garbage truck, but Mayor McGavin ordered an investigation to see if present equipment could be rebuilt.

MORE LOTS SET ASIDE FOR WARTIME HOMES

On motion of Alderman T. W. Hawkins, 100 lots were set aside in Burnside district to be used by Wartime Housing, Limited. It was agreed to allow Gillespie Grain Co. Ltd., to transfer its lease on the Ogden Point grain elevator to United Grain Growers, Ltd. Authority was given the parks superintendent to thin out small oak trees and cut down some dying ones at Beacon Hill Park.

On recommendation of the water board it was agreed to purchase a tract of land from A. E. Mallett for $425 in the Goldstream district.

Alderman Williams proposed a motion of appreciation to the mayor and war emergency committee for their successful efforts to have dim-out regulations amended.

Alderman McTavish asked the mayor to appeal to citizens to refrain from eating seed potatoes, and to ask the Provincial Government to insure a supply of the same variety for victory gardens.

On motion of Alderman George it was decided to allow electors next December to decide if they would like to revert to an elective system of police commission.

A motion of Alderman Davies suggested that the Federal and Provincial Governments erect an infirmary in the form of cottages, dormitories, community kitchens and gardens, as a postwar project.

Boy Scout News

FIRST CATHEDRAL

Fathers were the guests of the boys last week and the dads who were able to attend expressed pleasure and surprise in the performances of the boys. Duster hockey match between the Fathers (Doo-Dads) and the Scouts (Little Doos) ended in a victory for the Doo-Dads. Visiting Scoutmaster Major Wise handed out penalties with a firm hand. Rope climbing and tumbling took place under the leadership of Assistant Troop Leader Ken Mitchell. Messages were sent in Morse by buzzer-lamp and flag. To contrast the efficient first aid of the Scouts, a comedy entitled "First Aid in the Army" was played by Myron Balagno, Victor Mitchell, John Gault, Jack Haulton and Peter Browning.

On Friday next, at 7.30 p.m., there will be patrol leader and seconder examinations.

Better Deal for Women Workers Asked in House

Men Favored, Says Mrs. L. Jamieson

Complete economic independence alone will lure back to motherhood many Canadian women who have refrained from marriage because it would mean the sacrifice of their standard of living and self respect, Mrs. Laura Jamieson (C.C.F., Vancouver Centre), asserted in the Legislature yesterday.

The only solution, she said, is to pay the women workers in industry the same wage as men. They would then work after marriage as did their husbands, and share the costs of keeping the home.

"I believe that the Postwar Rehabilitation Council should study the idea of married women and single women too, continuing in industry. Women are on the march. Does any one think they are going to turn around after the war and march right back into barbarism?" Mrs. Jamieson asked.

She said that the country has been losing for years in population because well educated and trained women are not accepting marriage and motherhood. They are taking this stand, she explained, because marriage would come in most cases "with men in their own set and who are making an average of only one-third more than they themselves are."

Discussing the position of women in industry, Mrs. Jamieson said that while the principle of equal pay for equal work had been established, it was difficult to maintain the ruling and the promotions generally went to men, even when they had been earned by women.

NO INFRACTIONS ARE REPORTED

Replying to Mrs. Jamieson's insistence that this principle must be adhered to in all war production industries, Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, declared that no infractions of the nature she had described had been brought to the attention of the Government.

On the other hand, he said, many requests had been received from industries employing large numbers of women asking that a wage rate for women be established at 10 per cent less than that paid to men in those industries. The Regional Labor Board had turned down the request, the minister said.

Mrs. Jamieson strongly advocated the establishment of day nurseries on the nursery school principle for the care of the children of 15,000 married women now working in war industries. These children are being neglected, she said, because of the lack of proper accommodation.

Nursery schools are not a substitute for but a supplement to homes, she asserted.

"While the idea is just beginning to penetrate here, the nursery school is not a result of the war but is here to stay," she asserted.

Mrs. Jamieson stressed the need for economic research in British Columbia.

"We should have economic engineers so that we may be able to put our men power and women power to work on our resources."

NEWTON, Mass., March 1 (CP)—A comedian of the silent films has won a hero's spot in the hearts of animal lovers. Mike, the dog with a black circle around his eye in the "Our Gang" comedies produced by Hal Roach, yesterday led George F. Foster to an abandoned well in which he found a trapped mongrel. Decision in Viereck Case Is Reversed

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Asserting that a Government prosecutor "may strike hard blows" but not "foul ones," the Supreme Court reversed today the conviction of George Sylvester Viereck on a charge of failing to give the State Department full information concerning his alleged activities as a Nazi agent in the United States.

Chief Justice Stone delivered the 5-2 decision. Justices Black and Douglas dissented, and Justices Jackson and Rutledge did not participate.

Stone said that the prosecuting attorney in his closing remarks to the jury, "indulged in an appeal wholly irrelevant to any facts or issues in the case, the purpose and effect of which could only have been to arouse passion and prejudice."

"At a time when passion and prejudice are heightened by emotions stirred by our participation in a great war," the Chief Justice said, "we do not doubt that these remarks addressed to the jury were highly prejudical, and that they were offensive to the dignity and good order with which all proceedings in court should be conducted."

Concert Marks St. David's Day

Welsh Glee Club Heard on Programme

Members of the Victoria Welsh Society last night observed St. David's Day in honor of which a concert was held in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street. David Evans occupied the chair and delivered the address of welcome.

The programme opened with "O Canada," followed by a familiar Welsh hymn, "Aberystwyth." The Denis Kempton Group of Dancers gave a splendid act and they were followed by the Victoria Welsh Glee Club, who sang the following numbers: "Innocence," "Desiring," "Abergale," "Gwynfe" and "Brockton."

Songs were rendered by Mrs. Billy Jones, Mrs. W. C. Williams, Demi Collier, Meth Jones and Howard Jeffries, while Bob Thomas, William Butler and Thomas Jeffries contributed recitations to the programme. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Rhoowen Mason and Jeff Schofield.

VANCOUVER SENDS GREETING

The Cambrian Society, Vancouver, sent greetings to the Commodore of Society as it assembled to pay homage and tribute to the patron saint, St. David. "In the midst of our festivities may we find time to honor those of our dear homeland who have gone forth and have given their all in the cause of freedom and liberty, which have ever been the high ideals of the Welsh race."

Following the programme, refreshments were served, after which dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

British Columbia War Programme Lauded in House

LeBourdais Urges Closer Co-operation

British Columbians may be proud of the part this province is taking in the war effort, Lieut. Louis LeBourdais (Lib., Cariboo) asserted in the Legislature yesterday as he reviewed progress in the programme to date.

Speaking during the Budget debate in the Legislature, Lt. LeBourdais said British Columbia's first duty is to win the war, the second to prepare for peace. The peace plan should be one that will be acceptable to all citizens and place the needs of all men and women in the services in the forefront.

Lt. LeBourdais urged closer co-operation between the Provincial and Federal Governments. Had the British Columbia Government been consulted in time, he said, there would have been no "fuel fiasco" last Winter; there would have been no beef and potato shortages, nor would there be the beverage trouble now being experienced.

RESTRICTIONS NOW HELD UNFAIR TO SERVICEMEN

No action should be taken to prohibit the sale of beer while so many men are fighting overseas, Lt. LeBourdais asserted. They should be given a say in the matter, he added, but he was opposed to the taking of a plebiscite which he described as useless.

Touching on restrictions on the sale and manufacture of beer and liquors, the Cariboo member asked who was responsible for the pre-Christmas order of a bottle a day, with long queues waiting in the bitter cold to purchase their supply. He said the blame rested with Ottawa, which not only curtailed the manufacture and sale of beer, but issued an "idiotic" ban on the advertisements in Canadian newspapers, while at the same time United States and British periodicals, papers and magazines, carrying liquor advertising were permitted to circulate in Canada.

Turning to the question of hydro-electric power, Lt. LeBourdais said that residents in his riding were jubilant at hearing that power development of the Chilco Lake area was being considered. Potential development, he said, was 1,250,000 horsepower with a distribution cost of $9 per horsepower year.

He told the House that this development might result in the destruction of the Fraser River's salmon industry, which at one time was worth $30,000,000 annually. Every precaution should be taken, he said, to preserve the Chilco sockeye run, valued at $1,500,000 a year, he said.

THE YEAR OF EFFORT

As the world gets deeper into this year it will appear that 1943 is the period in which there will be called from the United Nations, and all of them, their greatest united effort. Anything that divides us, at home or abroad, will have to be laid aside. Postwar plans, in other than their underlying principles, may have to wait. There is a war to be waged, and this is the year we have pledged to carry that war to the enemy on every front and in every possible way.

Naturally enough, the Axis nations are booming their often-repeated "peace-offensive." Rumors cover the earth from Berne to Helsinki, and back. Germany and Italy swear a new pact to rid the world of Bolshevism. Underneath it all, however, our enemies are preparing for what we all know will be the decisive test of the global conflict, the Spring and Summer of 1943. It is in this year that Germany will make her last attempt to wrest victory out of defeat, or will fail to make it. It is in 1943 that Italy must come to conclusions, with herself. In this year Japan must sink or swim, having spent a twelve-month testing the global waters with her toes. For this we are ready and prepared, and 1943 will be the year of battle.

There are consequences that must be faced in Canada. It is too late now to change the basis of our war effort. Right or wrong, those preparations must be carried throughout without let or without hitch. Non-essential things must be laid aside. The people of this Dominion must buckle down to their war jobs as if their lives depended upon that. Indeed, they do. What we have gained in the interval between this Spring and last is the sure and certain knowledge that the enemy cannot win. It has yet to be established that the United Nations can push home the victory, and bring about the unconditional surrender of the aggressors everywhere. There is our aim, and it is a single-purposed one. We must all work at it alike.

It is something to be counted into the scale upon our side that we no longer take seriously the "peace-offensives" of the enemy. For the United Nations, for the free world, the only peace offensive this year will be battle. Battle on every front and on every day, until the enemy is gorged to the teeth with it. If we are successful in that, if we remain single-purposed and undivided, this year may see the United Nations far along the road towards the unconditional surrender of our foes, and victory. After victory, many of the world's most pressing problems, and all of its unsolved doubts, will be found to be taking care of themselves. Among men or nations of good-will all things are possible. There the United Nations see with a single eye. That concept comes down to a single task—mad dogs must, and will be caged. And this is the task of everyone who would be free, under Providence and the stars of a still-young world.

A BLITZ FOR GERMANY

Probably nothing matching the scale of the current great attack by the Royal Air Force, the Royal Canadian Air Force, the United States Army Air Corps, and supporting squadrons from other free nations has fallen upon Germany and enemy-held territory before in this war. It is questionable if during the height of the blitz upon Great Britain the Luftwaffe did as much damage in four weeks as the Allies have effected in four days of the non-stop, night and day assault by air.

Even the great 1,000-plane raids on Cologne and elsewhere cannot match this unceasing attack, which time after time has collapsed the enemy's defences and laid his cities open to the sky. Four times around the clock the attack has been going on, nor is it ended yet. In several instances 1,000 tons of bombs were dropped on a single centre, obliterating whole target areas. Allied losses in the great aerial offensive have been small when compared with the large number of machines put into the air by day and by night in unceasing relays. Germany knows now what it means to be underneath a sky that her Luftwaffe cannot hold.

As a complementary attack to the great drive of our Allies on the Eastern front, the aerial Blitz of Western Germany and German-held ports must have been of considerable value to our side. In one brief period alone 128 locomotives were shot up in daylight on their rails. Railheads, distribution centres, switching yards, canals and barges were intercepted and plastered with bombs. Aircraft works, engine factories, munition plants, power stations and other key works have been put out of the running, and for months to come.

Cologne, perhaps may be taken as a sample of what the Allies are achieving by this means. Cologne has been raided many times, but each time the Germans get their workshops in order and going again, the Allies knock them down. One result is a waste in man-hours of labor that the enemy can ill afford. Another is that his total war production lags at many points for want of special parts. A third result is directly in the loss of morale on the enemy's home front. Patently, and progressively, the Luftwaffe has been so extended that it can no longer guard Germany's head at home. Time after time towns have been found without air cover, and their ground fire beaten down. That is a most significant result at this, a crucial stage of the war.

It is to our credit that we have confined our attacks to military targets, and it is there that the solid weight of this terrific blow has fallen on the enemy. In as much as a distinct part of the aerial attack has fallen on German U-boat bases, factories and Diesel plants, we are storing up results that will be noticeable later on this year in the Spring and Summer months. Every Diesel engine wrecked in its stocks, every U-boat smashed on its keel, means one unit the less to be hunted later at sea. Brest, Lorient, St. Nazaire have felt the Allied blitz with full force. So too have Wilhelmshaven, Emden, Nuremberg and the Dortmund Canal.

To the people of Dover, hearing the one-way roar of Allied machines passing over their heads almost without cessation for ninety-six hours, this aerial blitz of Western Germany and the occupied coast in Europe must have been music indeed. The Allies are carrying the air war to Germany, and on a scale that eclipses all previous efforts. Too late, Germany could regret the planes she had sent to the Eastern front. Too late to recall were the planes dispatched to bolster Von Arnim and Rommel. The best the enemy could do was to evacuate the centres that had been left in smouldering, blackened ruins. For Germany, the blitz was coming home, with interest.

VICTORIA QUOTA $90,000

The Greater Victoria area is being asked to provide $90,000 in the Canadian Red Cross campaign for $10,000,000 which opened yesterday throughout the Dominion. That amount corresponds closely with 86,000 ration books issued in the same area, and works out at about one dollar a head if everybody was able to do his share. Some, of course, cannot, so that an average of considerably better than that must be realized if the greater community of Victoria is to hold its own in the drive, which it will surely want to do.

The machinery for the canvass was working effectively yesterday, with more than 700 voluntary helpers in the Greater Victoria area. The public can help materially by being ready with their answer when approached, either at their homes or at business premises. The campaign headquarters drive is at 909 Government Street, where campaign workers can be reached for any information that may be desired. In this, as in other matters, one volunteer is worth ten pressed men. Generally speaking, if citizens will try to do what they did last year, and in such cases where they can increase that a little, the success of the local drive will be assured.

Contributors will have a number of material satisfactions in their assistance to the present cause. Every dollar raised throughout Canada will go first to the fulfilment of a Canadian need in the alleviation of human suffering in this war. Canada's men are afield on land, at sea and in the air. They must be provided for in health or in sickness, in weal or in woe. Medical supplies, blood plasma banks for the battlefield, clothing, comforts, food and a host of other services are all implied; for these too are fighting dollars, and the need for them is great.

TOO SWEEPING

Cancelation of all permits to burn rubbish in the Victoria City area, as announced at the weekend, is too sweeping a remedy for reported carelessness on the part of some householders. All people do not light rubbish fires only to neglect them. All fire permits are not asked for by irresponsible people. Nor should all citizens be punished for the sake of the few who did not live up to their obligations in the matter.

In point of fact, this is the rubbish-burning season. This is the month in which citizens wish to clean up their grounds, and prepare for Spring planting. In the light of that, the no-permit decree would appear to be something of a mistake. It should be revoked before too much delay has been caused to the ten thousand homes comprising this community of well-kept homes and patiently-tended gardens.

The present decree smacks a little of keeping the small boy in after school. It will have no effect whatever upon those who are habitually careless—they will be just as careless in June when the ground is far more liable to carry fire—and it does stop everyone from getting ahead with their gardening programme. In this, the year of the Victory Garden, that is a mistake.

Let the Fire Department be selective, if it likes, in the manner in which fire permits are issued. Let it urge whatever precaution may be desired, and the public will subscribe heartily to that. But let us, also, get along with the gardens. To do that we must clear the ground, and burn rubbish; and many people want to do that now.

LIGHT AT LAST

A county court judge in Ontario performed a useful service for all Canada last week when he ruled that Federal regulations requiring twelve months' notice by landlords to tenants to be beyond the competence of Parliament. These regulations, he intimated, met no emergency arising out of the war. The decision, of course, means that there will now be a test of the regulations in a higher court. At last, it would seem, that light is beginning to prevail.

The plain fact of the matter is that the twelve months' notice regulation has very badly misfired. It has helped neither the tenant nor the owner of rented property. It has blocked sales which were urgently desired for family reasons, and by so doing has caused considerable hardship in individual cases. If the regulation had been effective some excuse for its continued existence might have been found, but it was ineffectual from the start.

What the Rental Board of Canada was aiming at—more security for tenants in their rented premises—was not achieved. Instead, properties that might have been available for certain periods of the year were withdrawn from the market entirely. What owner would rent if he knew that for a year to come he could neither sell, exchange or trade? In wartime no one can plan their lives that far ahead. So a stop-sale result accrued, and the Dominion has been over slow in recognizing that.

In as much as Judge E. S. Livermore, in the County Court of Simcoe, Ontario, brings that condition to light, His Honor has performed a worthwhile service to this land. The issue now must be settled, and settled on the basis, not of whimsy, but of fact. Even if it was within the competence of Parliament, the regulation is unworkable in fact.

WHITE IN THE MOON THE LONG ROAD LIES

White in the moon the long road lies
The moon stands blank above;
White in the moon the long road lies
That leads me from my love.

Still hangs the hedge without a gust,
Still, still the shadows stay;
My feet upon the moonlit dust
Pursue the ceaseless way.

The world is round, so travelers tell,
And straight though reach the track
Trudge on, trudge on, 'twill all be well
The way will guide me back.

But ere the circle homeward hies
Far, far must it remove;
White in the moon the long road lies
That leads me from my love.

THE CARROT FLY

Sir,—On a very brief visit to the city, Mr. Astley, of Beacon Hill Park, my son and myself were discussing insect pest control. It was remarked that the carrot-fly was attracted by the scent of the carrot. My son said, "a friend last year mixed his carrot and onion seed and found no worms." "Why, sure," said Mr. Astley, "in England we planted onions and carrots in alternate rows to combat the onion maggot, and why won't it work in reverse?"

So there is an idea. A row of carrots and a row of onions, and it's so simple that it will probably work.

LIKED CONCERT

Sir,—Last Friday night I attended a concert at St. Ann's Academy and I would like to show my appreciation through the medium of your paper. I am sure the public of Victoria have no idea of the talent that we have in our midst.

The acting of the children was perfect. I'm sure no professionals could have done better. It must have been a tremendous lot of work for the sisters who trained the children, the whole affair was a great credit both to them and the children.

I hope it will be possible in the near future for the play to be reproduced in some auditorium in town.

VACANT LOTS

Sir,—May we make some suggestions about greater production of vegetables in wartime. No new garden or vacant lot makes a full return on labor and overall expenses in one year. To begin with regarding the expense of rental, and water connection, it has been said officially that such is profitable over a number of years. But what guarantee have prospective gardeners that they will have the use of such lots for "a number of years?" Anyone, moreover, who, as to labor and time, gets the average vacant lot into good shape for gardening, puts in sufficient of both, the first year, to greatly improve the value of the property and pay for its use, free, for several years (speaking from repeated personal experience). On the other hand, anyone using arable land for some years without maintaining its productive capacity, should be accountable for depreciated value.

To make wartime gardens worthwhile, whether personally, privately, or city-owned, all unnecessary expense should be eliminated. Any idea of rental charge for two or three years, or the duration, should be discarded. Instead of trying to increase civic revenue at such times, the council should pay people for cleaning up some city properties.

If private owners in areas where vacant lots are in blocks, or adjoining, would show their patriotism promptly by offering their free use (provided they don't need them themselves), it would simplify the task of water connections, and ploughing, assuring a better job of the latter, with less labor, less waste at ends or corners.

For example, one household service connection, extended, with one-inch pipe to the inside corner of four adjoining lots would be sufficient service for all, using one meter, and each person keeping honest record by daily readings of the share they had to pay.

Three equi-distant service connections on inch and a half or two-inch secondary pipe lines, down the centre of an entire block of vacant lots, would be sufficient. If use of combined garden hose was mutually arranged for.

On new land, fertilizers are not required unless soil quality is subnormal.

Nothing should be wasted or burned, not even weeds, unless they were cut or uprooted after seed was close to maturity, with the exception of Morning Glory. Even thistles, cut in time, thoroughly dried out, are harmless and may be thrown on a compost pile. Couch grass land, of which there is a lot in the area, should be trenched in at least one and a half spade depths; and if the lot was mine, I would pay such persons something for their extra labor. If thereafter the odd blades of root segments of couch grass are lifted promptly as one does with other weeds, it will be controlled with ease if not entirely eliminated.

Enough blackberry brambles have rambled and tangled on vacant property in this area to greatly increase local food production if they were cleared out, thinned out, staked, and cultivated, immediately, for the coming season. They are practically useless at present, but no one wants that work for someone else's benefit.

Beginners should seek advice daily, if necessary, as to preparation, planting time, cultivation, watering, pests, picking, etc. One of the chief things to watch in this area is that frequent, but insufficient, watering is of far less value than watering to ample depth, followed by cultivation to keep the soil in a loose mulch as soon after as possible, even on clay soils.

Much information is required, so ask friends or neighbors with local experience.

IN THE MILLIONS

Sir,—Mr. Scotney George now states that the uranium and "rate of cooling" tests are "reasonably acceptable." Why, then, does he object to the millions of years of the geologist? The "deposit method" is not discarded, but still yields valuable evidence of the age of the earth's upper strata. As Professor Gregory states: "Geologists were convinced of the immense antiquity of the earth by the slowness of the processes that mold its surface, and all reliable methods now confirm this, so they and the biologists need not be embarrassed by lack of time. "They can have as much as they want."

Then he says that it was "the evolution of mankind, not evolution in general," that he challenged. Why, then worry about the ant and the bee? Sir Arthur Keith proved recently that this objection was untenable. Next, he refers to "species that do not evolve," and suggests that man may be "of such order." But all species have evolved, including the various species of mammals, to which genus man belongs. As Julian Huxley writes: "Our scientific knowledge now enables us to assert definitely that there is no break in the continuity of phenomena. There is no definite demarcation between man and not man." All leading modern biologists confirm this. Your correspondent repeats the error that I refuted, viz., that ultimate fixation disproves evolution. The law is that all species have evolved, not that they continue to change eternally. And the more any species specializes, the sooner it reaches fixation. Very few lines avoid such specialization. Man is the only mammal that displays all round development and so is capable of further progress. The rest specialized either as hunters, the carnivores (tigers), or as runners, the ungulates (horses), or as flyers (bats), or as swimmers (whales and porpoises). The horse can never fly because his whole growth has been in the opposite direction, and we have clear evidence that in such cases the processes of nature are irreversible. Evolution is a fact resting on overwhelming evidence. Today it is the basis of all modern thought and science. Darwin's theory of natural selection is also now firmly established for, as Julian Huxley says: "With the new knowledge of the last twenty years Darwin's original view is now vindicated. Science has made a greater advance since the publication of the 'Origin of Species' than in all the rest of man's life on earth."

"The conclusions of modern thought" referred to by Kenyon were these conclusions of science, and if your correspondent will refer to Kenyon he will find the assumption referred to was not the one he drew.

Woman Member to Speak—This afternoon, Mrs. Ralph Smith, the first woman member of the British Columbia Legislature, will deliver her maiden speech, when she will make her contribution to the debate on the Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne. The event will be a notable one in the annals of the Legislature, and undoubtedly will prove a feature of the session. When Mrs. Smith yesterday moved the adjournment of the debate she was given hearty applause and the members are looking forward to her effort this afternoon with keen anticipation.

Anxiety Felt for Ship—Considerable anxiety is felt as to the safety of H.M.S. Garnet, which is now twenty-four days overdue. She was on her way from southern waters, and was to have called into San Francisco for mails before proceeding to Honolulu. Nothing has been heard of her since her sailing for San Francisco, and unless she has called at Acapulco, and from that port started on her voyage, it is feared she has come to grief. The Garnet had 264 men on board when last heard from. She is a good vessel and steams well.

Enterprising—The shipment of coal from Nanaimo during the month of February reached 4,536 tons, which is the largest month's shipment since the establishment of the mine. The new management are pushing forward the work with commendable dispatch and it is confidently anticipated that the yield of 1868 will exceed by many thousand tons that of any previous year.

promised invasion of Europe, the best indications were that the aerial storm still had some time to blow before the way was blazed for troop landings.

CHURCHILL SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

The R.A.F. dropped more bombs during February than in any previous month of the war, Prime Minister Churchill disclosed tonight in a congratulatory message to Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris.

He said:

"In total volume you exceed by half as much again any previous month of the war. February thus marks quite a definite advance to which further improvements will be made."

Canadian pilots said smoke billowed 4,000 feet high from the blaze from three fires set. It was the first reported raid on St. Nazaire since February 16.

The raid rounded out the heaviest month of aerial assault in the history of the war. Probably 11,000 tons of explosives were rained on the enemy during February compared to a monthly average of 1942 of about 4,000 tons.

The big black-winged R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. planes rained down almost as heavy a bomb cargo on St. Nazaire last night as they could deliver on six night attacks a year ago.

Even with the unprecedented pace of the bombing schedule last month, the R.A.F. heavyweights were out only half the nights in February. Medium bombers and fighter-bombers hit places in Germany, France and the occupied Lowlands twelve times in daylight. American bombers made five large daylight raids.

The time is near when the weather will permit the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. to raid every night, and the lighter British planes and United States heavy bombers to strike more frequently by day.

The continuous air offensive is believed by competent British observers to have forced the Germans to allocate approximately 40 per cent of the entire Nazi Air Force for defence of the northern shores of Europe.

ESTIMATE BASED ON LATEST INFORMATION

The estimate is based on the latest information from all fronts, which places 1,200 to 1,500 first-line operating German planes of all types in Russia, 400 in Sicily and Southern Italy, 800 in Germany proper, 200 in Northern France and the Lowlands, 300 in Southern France and 300 in Tunisia.

Those in Tunisia are mainly fighters and fighter-bombers. Heavy bombers used in Tunisia are based mainly on Sicily and Southern Italy, British sources said.

Increasing numbers of fast fighters and dive bombers were reported being concentrated in Europe as German fears of invasion grew. A great majority of the 800 planes reported held in Germany proper were said to be based along the North Sea.

Today's Air Ministry communique said:

"The enemy submarine base at St. Nazaire was very heavily attacked last night by aircraft of the Bomber Command.

"A great weight of high explosive and incendiary bombs was dropped on objectives in Western Germany.

"Five of our aircraft are missing."

The R.C.A.F. communique said:

"The last night Halifax and Wellington squadrons of the R.C.A.F. took part in the Bomber Command's very heavy attack on the enemy submarine base at St. Nazaire. Over 1,000 tons of high explosives and incendiaries were dropped. Two R.C.A.F. bombers are missing."

Many Canadians on the raid had been over St. Nazaire before but this was the first official visit of the R.C.A.F. bomber group since its formation two months ago today.

Flt. Sgt. Stan Keon, bomb aimer of Saskatoon who was in one of the last aircraft to leave the target, said that "We flew over the target and back again and not a shot was fired at us. Hugh fires were burning."

"I really think we gave the place a good smashing and flames kept rushing up as heavy stuff sailed down," said P.O. W. H. Earle of [illegible].

PORT ALBERNI FLYER PARTICIPATES

Other Canadians flying with the R.A.F. on the visit to St. Nazaire included Flt. Sgt. John Fraser, of Port Alberni, B.C.

"A good pranging," was the way Sgt. Ken Davis, of Toronto and Noranda, Que., a rear gunner in a Lancaster crew captained by Sgt. Charlie Murray, of Kerrobert, Sask., described the raid.

During daylight hours Sunday Allied air forces carried out mine-laying operations, and an R.C.A.F. communique said one plane of its force was missing.

Yesterday British Whirlwinds attacked the German airdrome at Maupertus near Cherbourg, while swift Mosquitoes bombed factories at Hengelo in Holland and near Liege in Belgium, all without the loss of a plane.

These daylight raids followed a smash at Western Germany Saturday night by R.A.F. bombers, and completed a cycle of sustained night and day attacks by British and United States planes that began with the heavy raid Thursday night on Nuremberg.

There was no indication that Saturday night's raid was on a large scale and specific targets were not disclosed. Only one bomber was reported lost.

The daylight operations Saturday followed closely a "very heavy" attack by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers Friday night on the battered German industrial city of Cologne.

Canadians from the R.C.A.F. bomber group as well as Dominion flyers in R.A.F. crews participated in the Cologne attack, and reported on their return that they saw fires from as far away as eighty miles after the raid. Sgt. A. W. Cochrane, of Regina, said "it looked like an oil tank" blew up when the bombs from his Halifax struck.

Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

CHARTER STREET CAR

PITTSBURGH, March 1 (AP).—Pleasure driving was out, so Edith Ingram and Lincoln E. Smith chartered a street car to take friends to their wedding on Saturday. The be-ribboned trolley picked up the fifty guests along the seven-mile trip to the church and returned them to a suburb for a reception later.

ITALIAN COMMAND ADMIT DAMAGE

The Italian High Command acknowledged that the Cagliari raid was heavily effective, announcing that about 200 persons were killed and hundreds injured, and that "public and private buildings were hit."

As to the fighting in Tunisia, it claimed local successes for Axis troops. The Germans made a similar claim and asserted, too, that three large Allied transports were hit by aerial torpedoes off the Algerian coast, and that another 7,000-ton Allied ship was destroyed. These claims were not confirmed.

in the Ukraine which has made movement difficult.

Demyansk, chief prize in the new offensive, is in the Valdai Hills forty-eight miles southeast of Staraya Russa. The German 16th Army, which the Russians said had been put to flight, has been trapped in the Staraya Russa sector for several weeks.

Russian communiques for several weeks have reported violent fighting in the Lake Ilmen sector and in the whole region south of Leningrad. This was the first Russian mention, however, that an offensive was under way in that region.

Moreover, it was the first mention of Marshal Timoshenko since the battle at Leningrad. The German radio recently had insisted Timoshenko was in Washington.

Of the German casualties, 8,000 were reported killed and 3,000 captured.

The Russians said they had liberated Zaluchye and Lychkovo, both district centres.

The Russian communique related that the Germans had captured the battle region in September, 1941.

"The Germans calculated on utilizing this fortified district to develop a blow against the most important communication lines of the northern grouping of our troops," the communique said.

GERMAN DIVISIONS GROUND DOWN

Throughout the seventeen months it was held by the Germans, however, the Russians mounted violent battles in the area "in which German divisions were ground down," the official account said.

"In the course of the fighting our troops, having pierced on several sectors the strongly fortified enemy zone, created the serious threat of double encirclement for the German Fascist troops," the communique said. "The enemy, realizing the danger of encirclement under the blows of our troops, commenced a hasty retreat to the west."

Important booty including seventy-eight planes, ninety-seven tanks, 289 cannon and 711 machine-guns was captured.

The offensive was the eighth large stroke of the Winter drive started November 19 at Stalingrad. London military observers could not decide whether this was a major thrust, pending fuller details.

It was widely expected in London that Timoshenko likely would try to drive through Staraya Russa to the west toward Estonia or perhaps turn northward toward the Gulf of Finland to seal a pocket around the Germans still near Leningrad.

Such a move would effect the final relief of the old czarist capital and pave the way for a quick peace with the Finns, who would be isolated by land except for a frigid corridor in Norway north of the Arctic Circle.

Every year 500 acres of tombstones are added to the burial grounds of Great Britain, it is estimated. Already 25,000 acres of the United Kingdom are graveyards.

According to Culbertson

Declarer is lucky when only one line of play can achieve the desired result. Even if that line has a remote chance for success, he is usually better off than having to choose from among three or four apparently equal alternatives. However, it goes without saying that when only one reasonable chance offers itself, declarer must be alert enough and experienced enough to recognize his opportunity.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 NT	Pass	5 ♥	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
6 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

I have recorded this bidding as it actually took place in a recent duplicate game, which is not to say that I approve it. South's hand, although strong in top cards, was somewhat light for such a gigantic opening bid as three no trump, and besides, his distribution was wrong for that bid.

After West's lead of the club ten, there was only one reasonable course available to the declarer. Regardless of the position of the outstanding hearts, at least one heart trick would have to be lost, hence there was no point in attempting a finesse against the king. It was far more logical to lay down the heart ace and concede the king. West back on lead at the third trick, exited with another club. Declarer won in his own hand and carefully cashed the spade ace before entering dummy with the club jack to the queen. Now the established hearts were run off, declarer discarding two spades and two diamonds. After the last heart was played, dummy was left with the Q-8 of spades and the lack of diamonds. Declarer's holding was the A-K-9 of diamonds. West could not find a safe discard. He had to throw one card from a holding of the spade king and the Q-10-6 of diamonds. If he let go the spade king, dummy's queen would become high, hence he was forced to dungorge the diamond six. Now the diamond jack was led to the king and the ace was cashed. The Q-10 dropping from West, declarer's nine became promoted to winning position, and the somewhat optimistic six on trump contract became a fair accompli.

International State in North Is Suggested

Would Develop Area As Economic Unit

As a monument to the peace that has existed for more than a century between Canada and the United States, an "International State of America," embracing a million miles in the territory north of the 54th parallel, was proposed in the Legislature yesterday by E. T. Kenney (Lib., Skeena).

Speaking during the budget debate, Mr. Kenney said, "It has taken a world-wide war and the Government of the United States to discover Northern British Columbia, and in the past year the Washington Government has spent more money in that area than was ever spent by the Dominion since Confederation."

Today, Canada and the United States are closer than ever before, he said. While their common enemy in Asia undoubtedly will be defeated, there is the prospect that within several decades these two countries may be forced to defend their shores against Asia as they are doing now.

In establishing this area as an economic unit, an excellent opportunity would be given to set up a model form of government, Mr. Kenney said.

Challenging the C.C.F. party to state its position on the Japanese question, Mr. Kenney declared that the people of British Columbia are entitled to know the stand of the Opposition.

He was convinced, he said, that the C.C.F. are using the Legislature as a sounding board "to see which way the wind is blowing."

Recalling that several years ago the C.C.F. party had advocated extending the franchise to the Japanese, Mr. Kenney said that had this proposal been carried out, the Japanese would now hold the balance of political power in the province and citizens would not control their own destiny.

FAVORS REPATRIATION OF ALL JAPANESE

He saw only one solution to the Japanese problem, the repatriation of all Japanese.

"We have been told the Dominion has promised other provinces to return Japanese now in their midst to this Coast when the war is over. If the Dominion has power to return them here, it also has the power to return them to Japan. If preferred treatment is to be accorded to Eastern Canada and denied to British Columbia, then there should be an evacuation at Ottawa as well."

He suggested that if the Japanese cannot be repatriated, each province be requested to take a quota of Japanese in proportion to population. He suggested further that no Japanese in Canada be permitted to hold a licence to engage in any endeavor or industry or be permitted to acquire any property in his own right or name.

Mr. Kenney declared that money allocated for "an assay office at Prince Rupert some years ago had not yet been used for that purpose, and that it is imperative that the office be opened at once.

The redistribution of road machinery by the Department of Public Works was also advocated by Mr. Kenney. Roads used for military purposes will be almost impassible in the Spring, he said, unless needed repairs are made immediately.

Blood Brother
to an unknown patriot
He steps away from his daily work, rolls up his sleeve and cheerfully donates his blood—so that some unknown brother or sister may come back again from under the black shadow of death. Through the efficient services of the Canadian Red Cross, his blood is speedily transported in dried form to be used for transfusions in Britain, Russia, Egypt or wherever war's shock takes its toll.
Ford of Canada honours all blood donors; especially those who come from the ranks of Canada's great army of production workers. At Windsor, in the Ford of Canada blood clinic, many thousands of Ford workers have already made more than 7000 blood donations.
So that this great work—binding Canada to her brothers and sisters of other nations with the strongest of all ties—may carry on, the Canadian Red Cross needs your help.
The need for Red Cross help is now greater than ever. Let Canada's response be quick and generous.

There is a new angle at which to wear your dressy hat—dipped forward over the eye, above hair upswept to give a lifted look to the silhouette. A soft fold of Milan straw anchored firmly to the head, it is trimmed in fawn ostrich, tulle and lace . . . subtly flattering the woman and her costume.

MRS. D. J. HUNTER

Seventy-five per cent of the proceeds are to be devoted in aid of the British Relief Fund. It has been the objective of the Victoria Chapter of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia to assist their sister nurses in the British Empire in every way they can, and this occasion is a united effort to make a substantial contribution in appreciation of the tremendous work civilian nurses are doing.

Hospital Junior W. A. Aids Social Service

Over 300 persons were extended assistance last year through the department of social services of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, it was reported by Miss Martha McBride, social service director of the hospital, at a meeting of the hospital Junior Women's Auxiliary, held Monday afternoon in the Nurses' Home. This auxiliary, in conjunction with the hospital board, supports the numerous branches of the social service department.

Mrs. H. T. Goodland, first vice-president, was in the chair in the absence of Mrs. R. A. Wootten, president. Summarizing the extensive work done by her department, Miss McBride stated that sixty-two chronic hospital cases were transferred to the provincial infirmary and nursing homes; in four cases relatives were persuaded to assume responsibility for the patient; two cases were referred to the Solarium for further treatment and one case was transferred to Kamloops; seventy-nine were given free transportation; twenty were given clothing; five layettes were supplied; hospital babies and 128 visits were made in the patients' interests.

FOLLOW-UP WORK REPORTED VALUABLE

In addition, Miss McBride reported, considerable time had been spent in visiting patients for other welfare organizations in the city. The follow-up work of the V.O.N. was of much assistance. Help was also given patients' relatives and friends in untangling domestic difficulties. Miss McBride expressed her gratitude to the members of the auxiliary for their assistance in keeping this invaluable department functioning.

As conditions were considered unfavorable this year, the annual decorated table display was postponed until such time as was deemed favorable. The Christmas bazaar is still to be held, it was reported, members being asked to dress dolls. Those wishing help or suggestions in doll-dressing were asked to call Mrs. George Hall or attend the knitting meeting at the hospital, March 9, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. K. Barr reported that the emergency operating room lamp, donated to the hospital by the auxiliary at a cost of $370, is now in operation and greatly appreciated by the surgical staff. It is supplied with its own battery and, in the case of the city power failing, can run for eight hours.

Mrs. R. Green reported that the next knitting meeting would be held [illegible] at the hospital, the meeting this week being postponed to allow members to work in the Red Cross drive.

NEW SUPPLIES URGENTLY NEEDED

Mrs. G. H. Simons, Thrift Shop convener, reported stocks extremely low and new supplies are urgently needed. Donors may leave parcels at Hampshire House, Oak Bay Avenue, or call Mrs. B. S. Darling, Sylvan Lane. Mrs. P. F. Howden reported that six home and thirty-two hospital visits were made last month. Five diet cases were carried on, it was stated by Mrs. J. Copeman, diet convener. A total of 8,208 pieces were completed by the bandaging committee, it was reported by Mrs. H. Robinson, who appealed for more attendance at the meetings, Tuesday afternoons and mornings, Tuesday afternoons and Thursday mornings in the Nurses' Home. Mrs. H. A. Brown reported the next vocational meeting will be held on March 9. Mrs. Leslie Aylard reported on the showcase sales of layettes.

Four new members were introduced: Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, Mrs. Keith MacDougall, Mrs. R. M. Collinson and Mrs. T. A. Brown.

Mrs. Stanley Haynes read her report as secretary, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. A. Wright. Members were asked to assist the hospital Senior W.A. in their annual tag day to be held April 2, Mrs. Fulcher being in charge for the Junior Auxiliary.

Mrs. D. Gottlieb Describes Hadassah's War Efforts

Mrs. David P. Gottlieb, of Winnipeg, Western vice-president of Canadian Hadassah, was guest speaker at a luncheon held at the home of Mrs. H. Kramer, 139 Cook Street, yesterday, given and sponsored by Victoria Hadassah Chapter in aid of Hadassah Youth Aliyah.

Outlining the war efforts of Hadassah from the Maritimes to Victoria, Mrs. Gottlieb specialized on the efforts of the forty-four chapters forming the western division, of which Victoria is a part.

Highlights in her address were activities including furnishing and equipping a hospital ward of sixty beds in Taplow, Eng.; this undertaking being carried out through the Canadian Red Cross, for Canadian soldiers; furnishing and equipping a ward in the Sarah Delano Roosevelt Home for bombed-out children in England; sending three ambulances to England and two mobile canteens (one for England and one for Palestine); sending a fleet of nine ambulances to British soldiers stationed in Palestine, to be used in the battlefields in the Near East; giving hospital aid to the wounded at the Rothschild Hadassah Hospital, Jerusalem; sending money to purchase blood banks (blood plasma) for men in the Near East, and buying $10,000 War Bonds.

HELP NEEDED FOR REFUGEE CHILDREN

In addition to delineating the chapter's war efforts Mrs. Gottlieb stirred her listeners' sympathy with her eloquent appeal for the refugee children escaped from Poland. Each child that enters Palestine must have a certificate, and while some 10,000 certificates are held by the Palestine Government, 6,000 have been redeemed by Hadassah, and the equivalent number of refugee children have been received in Palestine from Poland. Mrs. Gottlieb told her listeners of the terrible privations and dangers that await these escaped children in their two months' journey that leads to ultimate safety.

These refugees vary in age from eighteen months to eighteen years, and the speaker revealed, in many cases their condition is so bad Hadassah has had to supply doctors, nurses and relief workers. The Red Cross in Iran, Mrs. Gottlieb remarked, is working to see these children are fed properly, and somewhat restored in health before they can enter Palestine. Special camps have been erected where these refugees' bodies and morale can be built up.

After the period of readjustment is over and the children improve in health they are set to work on the land, and become adept as farmers, later they will be organized as new settlements.

Mrs. Gottlieb stated Palestine after two decades of work has become a workshop and a base for military machinery for the Near East. Right now the farms are producing more food than ever before to help feed the armies, and 2,000 factories and machine shops are turning out war work."

Girl Guide Notes

VICTORIA DIVISION

Miss H. Leighton, divisional commissioner, presided at the annual meeting of Victoria Division, Canadian Girl Guides' Association, held last evening at 202 Union Building. Reports of the work accomplished during the year were given as follows: Central Company, Mrs. P. W. Midgley; North Company, Mrs. V. J. Pritchard; West Company, Mrs. D. E. Abraham; Esquimalt and East Companies, Mrs. Keith MacDougall. Reports were read by Miss P. Bartle and Miss Z. Pike for Colwood and Sooke Companies. The activities of the past year with reference to war work, money raised and badges earned by the Guides and Brownies were heard with interest. The financial statement was also presented.

Miss K. MacMahon, secretary of the training department, Dominion headquarters, Canadian Girl Guide Association, addressed the meeting on "The Wartime Emergency Service Test." Guides and Rangers over fifteen years of age may take this test which covers work in discipline, fitness, message corps, emergency cooking, first aid, home nursing, child nursing, transportation, land work, and a thorough knowledge of local A.R.P. regulations. Guides passing the test will receive a badge similar to the home emergency badge which Guides in England are required to have in order to recruit for the reconstruction study work now being done for postwar work in Europe.

Training classes in charge of Miss Hannah and Miss Illingworth will begin here shortly, it was reported.

Mrs. Alan Morkill, assistant deputy provincial commissioner, was present and spoke encouraging words to captains and guiders, urging them to carry on the fine work of guide training.

Future plans were discussed, and before adjourning members were reminded of the salvage work being undertaken by the Guides, namely, distributing posters and sorting magazines for the salvage corps.

C.G.I.T. Notes

The meeting of the C.G.I.T. Girls Council was held at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday afternoon. Twenty girls volunteered to tag on March 6 for the Medical Aid to China. Plans were made for an executive meeting to be held at the home of the president on March 13. A short worship service and singsong brought the meeting to a close.

Art and Customs Of Vanishing Race Vividly Portrayed

The art of a race which is passing was related by A. M. D. Fairbairn, speaking on the "Haidas of the Queen Charlotte Islands" before a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Overseas League yesterday afternoon in the lower lounge of the Empress Hotel, Sir Robert Holland presiding.

Traveling to the Queen Charlotte Islands primarily to sketch, Mr. Fairbairn became so fascinated with the country and its inhabitants, the Haida Indians, he has felt the urge ever since "to return there again and again." This Indian tribe, the speaker declared, differs entirely from any found on the Mainland, being superior in mentality, physique and fighting prowess.

The Haidas, which translated means "Chosen People," come of a high civilization. Their art reveals their background, Mr. Fairbairn said. "They cannot be counted as ordinary Indians. Other tribes have copied their skills, but in the field of design they are unapproachable." He described in a realistic way the exquisite carving of the lofty totem poles some sixty feet in height. The rich colors used by the artists was spoken of and their symbolic designs with special mention of the "feathered serpent" which is found also in the art works of the Aztec, Egyptian and Maori peoples, he said.

Mr. Fairbairn sketched briefly the early history of the Haidas, from the days of the Spanish and Hudson's Bay Company traders, when the Indians numbered at least 50,000 persons, in comparison to the present day, there being about 400 tribesmen left. Soon all traces of the old race will be obliterated, he said, even the totem poles, for the Federal Government, having forbidden removal of the poles, has made no effort to preserve them from decay.

On his visits to the Haidas, Mr. Fairbairn collected interesting relics, a few of which the members were able to view at yesterday's meeting, including a small, wonderfully carved totem, a fragment of a ceremonial robe, a horn spoon and strings of beads, all well over 100 years old.

Rev. R. C. S. Stevenson proposed the vote of thanks to Mr. Fairbairn.

Many guests were present, among them being Misses Alice and Edith Ravenhill. The former addressed the members briefly in her capacity as president of the Victoria branch of the Society for the Furtherance of British Columbia Indian Arts and Crafts.

Mrs. A. G. MacDonald, honorary corresponding secretary, reported that during February the sum of $140.82 had been sent to London. Since the beginning of the year $345.80 had been sent to headquarters in London. Mrs. MacDonald stated that another shipment of clothing was ready to leave.

The wool and knitting report was given by Mrs. A. Darrell, who stated that thirty-seven articles had been completed during February, including four fuzzie-neck sweaters, gloves, scarves and twenty-eight pairs of socks. Following adjournment of the meeting, tea was served.

HALT NEGOTIATIONS

POWELL RIVER, March 1 (CP).—Negotiations for purchase by American interests of the entire output of Lakeview Lumber Company's sawmill at Mouat Bay, Powell Lake, have been halted by order of the timber controller of Canada. The order prohibits fulfillment of a large-scale contract recently concluded between the sawmill proprietors and the International Trading Corporation, Seattle, Wash., who negotiated the deal to supply structural timber and boat lumber to the United States Army Transportation Corps.

WATER NOT POLLUTED

CRANBROOK, March 1 (CP).—To allay rumors of possible typhoid cases in this district, Cranbrook water supply has been checked and pronounced free of pollution of any bacterial nature. An unpleasant smell, prominent on Cranbrook streets since the thaw three weeks ago, has been caused by hydrogen sulphide produced by the decomposition of plankton organisms in marshlands south of town. While the condition is objectionable, it has been pronounced harmless by medical authorities.

HEAVILY FINED

POWELL RIVER, March 1 (CP).—A fine of $50 each or thirty days in jail was the sentence imposed by Magistrate A. T. Powell when he found Phillip Tremblay and Clevia Tremblay guilty of consuming liquor in a public place.

Homemakers' Guide

Five Minutes Earlier for Your Health's Sake

Did you ever stop to think how much our efficiency depends on breakfast? From a physiological standpoint, our mental and physical efficiency gets under way at the breakfast table. In these speedy days, however, this morning meal seems to be becoming a lost custom. A cup of coffee and a sliver of toast eaten on the run make up the breakfast menu of a majority of people. This kind of morning start lops off a good portion of our efficiency and takes its toll in many other ways, too. It is bad enough in normal times, but now that each of us is shouldering more responsibility, slighting this all-important morning meal is personal sabotage. If cutting down on breakfast is a question of time, and it usually is, then set the alarm for a little earlier than usual and take time for a nourishing meal. Much of the preparation can be done the night before such as having table set, the batter with the exception of malted shortening mixed for hot cakes, waffles or muffins, or having the biscuits waiting in the refrigerator.

PATTERN FOR BREAKFAST—If your breakfast pattern has been upset by the rationing programme, remember that this meal can still be a well-balanced one. Fruit, cereal, bread in some form and that one cup of coffee supply energy, vitamins, minerals, calories, and that grand satisfied feeling.

FRUITS—Whole fruits such as sliced oranges or baked apples are more filling and have more lasting qualities than fruit juices. Unstrained juices have the same advantage over strained juices. Vary the fruit in some way each day, and don't have too many repeaters. For example, serve apples baked, as a sauce, or fried.

CEREALS—There's a kind for every taste. Vary them from time to time for interest, and alternate cooked cereals with ready-to-serve ones. Honey, corn syrup, maple-flavored syrup and fruits and fruit sauces add a pleasant change to cereals, and help the sugar bowl, too.

BREAKFAST BREAD—Toast is the morning standby, but here, variety is welcome also. Serve toast plain, as French toast, cinnamon toast, or toasted jelly sandwiches. Vitamin "B" bread gives extra vitamins that we all can use. Hot breads, hot cakes, waffles and hot rolls are hearty and are a bit more filling than toast.

WEEKLY WARTIME NUTRITION HINTS

Martha Logan, Swift's famed home economist, whose weekly wartime cooking column is a regular feature of this page. Look for these valuable hints each Tuesday.

Economical Meat Casserole

This week, Miss Logan gives a useful recipe for using economy cuts

Adaptability is the secret of successful "wartime housekeeping." I mean the kind of housekeeping every patriotic Canadian woman takes a pride in these days . . . the kind in which proper nutrition and avoidance of waste are paramount considerations.

Take the economical meat casserole we illustrate this week. It helps you use the thrifty but equally nutritious cuts of beef, lamb or veal. And that's what I mean by adaptability—the readiness and ability to use a great variety of valuable foods which we might not think about in peacetime. In the actual recipe, we suggest chuck steak; but you could use a variety of other similar less-sought-after cuts with equally appetizing results. Consult your own butcher as to the best buy of the day. Serve a green vegetable with it for a nutritionally important main course.

CASSEROLE FOR 4
Cooking time 1¼ hours

1½ lb. chuck steak
4 potatoes
Salt, pepper, Silverleaf lard
1 onion
1 cup tomatoes

Cut in serving pieces and brown steak in hot lard, season. Place in casserole or baking pan. Cover with sliced peeled onion and potatoes. Season. Add tomatoes. Cover. Bake in moderate oven (350°) about 1 hr. Uncover, bake 15 minutes, till the savoury liquid is absorbed by the potatoes.

10c is all you need for your copy of "Meat Complete," Martha Logan's fascinating new 54-page meat cookbook. Write to Swift Canadian Co., Limited, Dept. NJT, Toronto.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP).—The stock market turned in an irregularly lower performance today and, with "penny" issues crowding the ticker tape, activity was the most pronounced in more than a year.

Trends were shaky at the start while many new highs for as much as three years were scored by low-priced rails, tractions and industrials, pivotals generally exhibited a soft appearance. Declines, on the whole, were in fractions at the close although a number of losses ran to 2 or more points.

The apparent halting of the Red Army offensive in Russia caused the trimming of accounts here and there and further substantial profit-taking on the lengthy upswing was a bearish factor. Bulls still were plentiful though, because of the belief huge excess funds have yet to enter the market.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was off .2 of a point at 46, largest recession since February 18. Transfers totaled 2,000,890 shares, a peak since December 30, 1941. They compared with 1,438,370 last Friday.

ARMY SWAMPS FLYERS IN OPENING HOCKEY GAME

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

ARMY BOYS GROUND FLYERS

Here's a special communique from the hockey battlefront, coming from a city "somewhere on the banks of the Fraser River": Vancouver R.C.A.F. suffered a tremendous loss here Monday night when their entire squad was downed by a hail of pucks fired from the big guns of the Victoria Army. The citizens, totaling about 5,000, were astonished at the accurate sniping of the Island soldiers, but through a spokesman declared that they will launch a strong counter-attack on Wednesday night with hopes of gaining some revenge.

Yes, ladies and gentlemen, that just sums up the first game of the provincial hockey final between the Flyers and Army at New Westminster last night, when the latter icemen, flashing sensational form, great teamwork and a powerful defence, trounced the Mainland winners by a 10-1 score. Judging by that score Warburton's team is one-fourth the way to Calgary already for the next series in the Allan Cup playdowns. Army's second-string front line showed the same old drive and play-making as they counted five of their team's total. Goalie Rice-Jones had little work as compared with the lad in the opposite net, who could have aided the rubber shortage considerably if he had saved all the pucks driven his way.

Yours truly picked the Army by six goals and 90 per cent of the hockey public snickered when they glanced at the prediction. But not me, when I sit down at this typewriter to pick them. I am serious, whether I come out in reverse or not.

ODDS AND ENDS

Congratulations are in order to the Victoria Machinery Depot football team on winning the Price Cup; the Naval College for their smart victory in the Barnard Cup Rugby final against the Army, and to Ruth Payne and capturing the Western Canada women's singles table tennis crown at the Crystal Garden last Saturday night . . . The "ping-pong" title would have rested in the Payne homestead at any rate, for Ruth just beat her sister, Joy, in the final . . . Tose runs pulled off by the navy ruggers were the longest witnessed at Macdonald Park for many a long day. One was seventy-five yards, another seventy and the third fifty. That's tearing off yardage in anybody's league . . . Do you know that Gene Sarazen, who won the United States open golf crown at the tender age of twenty, back in 1922, celebrated his forty-first birthday recently? Gene is one of the few big-time pros still wearing knickers . . . The big $64 question facing the President of the United States concerning sport is: Will baseball be given the go-ahead signal for 1943 or otherwise? Franklin D., being an ardent baseball fan, will most likely answer in the affirmative, most experts think . . . Ran into Freddy Clunk," former professional at the Gorge Vale Golf Club on Sunday and we talked about the fairway pastime and its future. Freddy has been in the Provincial Police ever since he left his pro shop and is stationed at Chemainus. He tested his game out since arriving in the city at Colwood and Gorge courses and says he is hitting the ball fairly well . . . My old friend Harry Scott, of The Calgary Albertan, celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as sports editor of that paper recently. He played for the Montreal Canadiens in his younger days.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Next Saturday, at the Royal Athlete Park, will be "juvenile day" for the young footballers of the city. As a feature attraction, league, officials have arranged for a Garrison Cup match between the two leading elevens, V.M.D. and the Royal Air Force, a battle which should turn out to be one of the best of the season. As a curtain raiser, two of the best-balanced juvenile clubs in the city will show the fans what calibre of soccer they are capable of dishing out. The proceeds will go towards the promotion of the juvenile game and, therefore, it is hoped that the public will support this movement 100 per cent . . . So, Mr. and Mrs. Football Phan, don't forget next Saturday; set it aside for the youngsters for, after all, they will be the senior players of tomorrow . . . It looks as if the Montreal Canadiens, the team a large number of Victorians are pulling for, will be on the outside looking in when play-off time rolls around in the National Hockey League. They are four points back of Chicago and Toronto, and the end of the schedule is just around the corner. If the Habitants get into the select circle they will be fortunate, indeed. Here's the set-up for the remaining games: Canadiens have six fixtures tabbed; Maple Leafs seven and the Black Hawks half a dozen. Canadiens certainly have a tough road ahead, so they may be "blacked out" any time from now on . . . Bob Sweeney, United States born, but who moved to England at a tender age and in later years won the British amateur golf championship, is reported missing after air operations over Africa.

Pilot of "P for Freddie" in the Royal Air Force film "Target for Tonight," Wing Cmdr. Percy Pickard, D.F.C., D.S.O. and Bar, is the proud father of a son. He took part in carrying paratroops on the Bruneval raid last February.

Detroit Increases Lead Over Bruins

Red Wings Whip Rangers Again; Leafs Beat the Canadiens, 4-2

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Detroit Red Wings, spiraling upward with characteristic late-season vigor, appeared almost a certainty today to finish the National Hockey League schedule in first place. Other developments during the league's eighteenth week-end of competition pointed sharply to Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs as favored contenders in the three-cornered fight with Montreal Canadiens for the last two play-off positions.

Individual overtones were provided by Doug Bentley, of Chicago, who accumulated five scoring points to wrest the lead from Bill Cowley, of Boston; and by Rookie Bill Mosienko, who tallied an important counter for Hawks against Toronto Saturday, contributed a goal and an assist for Quebec Morton Aces in an amateur play-off game Sunday.

Detroit rode to the heights in armchair fashion, cuffing the unfortunate Rangers, 7-1, on home ice Saturday, and 5-1 in New York Sunday, to move three points ahead of the second-place Bruins. The clinching part of the argument in Detroit's favor is that they have three games in hand with two weeks and a half to play.

TEAM SETS UP RECORD

Mud Bruneteau, Carl Liscombe, Harry Watson and Alex Motter swiped two goals apiece for Red Wings in the double victory while Bryan Hextall and Vic Myles collected the only Ranger goals. The Detroit goal total for the season soared to 148, shattering the club's previous high-water mark of 140.

The other three games had direct bearing on the swirling struggle for third and fourth position. Hawks were the leading beneficiaries, exploding a three-goal charge in the third period to hand Leafs a 4-1 defeat in Toronto Saturday and holding Boston to a 4-4 deadlock at Chicago Sunday.

The three-point output, coupled with Toronto's 4-2 victory over Montreal at the Forum Sunday, left Chicago and Toronto tied for third spot with Canadiens four points behind in fifth place and facing a stiff climb to reach the play-offs.

Doug Bentley's week-end activity resulted in two goals and three assists, boosting his season's yield to sixty-five points. Max Bentley pulled into a second-place tie with Cowley.

But neither of the Bentley brothers from Delisle, Sask., looked any better than Mosienko, who was playing on loan from the Quebec Senior League Aces under the "lease-lend" arrangement. He returned to Quebec Sunday.

B. C. Contributed Plenty to Golf

TORONTO, March 1 (CP).—The Royal Canadian Golf Association today decided to cancel the 1943 Canadian Open tournament but left the way open for possible reconsideration in case conditions should change.

The forty-fourth annual gathering reached its decision largely because most leading United States professionals—a big drawing card for the tournament—now are in the armed forces or engaged in war work.

If there is any possibility later in the year of a respectable list of "name players," the R.C.G.A. felt the tournament question might be reopened on that basis.

The 1942 tournament was held at the Mississauga course in suburban Port Credit and was won by Craig Wood, of Mamaroneck, N.Y.

The association reported its net profits in 1942 were approximately $1,500, all donated to the Canadian Red Cross.

British Columbia during the year raised $7,000 for the Red Cross.

The R.C.G.A.'s credit balance of $11,000, including Government bonds, remains unchanged.

WOMEN CAN BOWL, TOO

First Step Sets the Bowler Straight

By CONNIE SCHWOEGLER
(National Match Game Bowling Champion)

FOURTH OF A SERIES

THE first step in bowling is just as important as any phase of the game, since, with it, you either start out right or you start out wrong.

Using a four-step delivery, which I recommended for women bowlers, the first step is taken on the right foot. In making this step the bowler sets out on a straight line—that is, her course from where she stands on the approach to the foul line, to where she will place the ball on the alley and to the 1-3 pocket of the pins, should be lined up like a rifle sight.

If she zig-zags up to the foul line, or approaches at an angle from the left on one occasion and at an angle from the right on another occasion she will never develop any consistency of aim.

In other words, the first step sets the bowler straight—straight to the foul line. As the step is taken, the ball is lowered downward and away from the body in a graceful, easy motion. Don't lower the ball by jerks or rush it violently away from you. The weight of the ball is almost sufficient momentum.

As you practice the four-step delivery, concentrate on timing and balance. Take things easy. Move slowly at first to make sure you are stepping properly up to the foul line. If your distance from the foul line is too close or too far, make adjustments as needed.

Annual Juvenile Day Match Is Arranged

V.M.D. and R.A.F. Seniors Will Play in Benefit Fixture

Plans for Victoria's fourth annual Juvenile Soccer Day moved rapidly forward yesterday with the announcement by Charlie Lewis, local president, that V.M.D. and R.A.F., top clubs in the senior circuit, will lend their support to the annual programme.

Shipyard workers and the Old Country players will meet Saturday at Royal Athletic Park in the feature attraction of a double programme marking the special event. Juvenile clubs from the Lower Island Association will appear in the curtain-raisers.

Flt. Lt. Dunn and "Jock" McColl, managers of the R.A.F. and V.M.D. respectively, readily consented to contribute the day's gate receipts to the juveniles when approached to do so by local officials. The match will be the final meeting of the two leading clubs in league play this season and promises to be the classic of the Garrison Cup series.

Manager "Jock" McColl's Victoria Machinery Depot footballers registered their first major triumph last Saturday when they defeated the Navy, 3-1, to gain possession of the Freddy Price Memorial Trophy. Another victory on Saturday will give the shipyard workers the league title and the Garrison Cup.

V.M.D. HAVE EDGE IN GAMES PLAYED

Royal Air Force and V.M.D. have played three matches so far this season, with the lads who build Liberty ships winning two and losing one. The Old Country footballers took the last game between the two clubs and must win Saturday to retain their hopes of lifting the league laurels.

Most important fixture on the season's schedule, Saturday's game has all the earmarks of a championship affair and with rival squads at full strength will certainly be keenly contested.

The V.M.D.-R.A.F. match is billed for 2:45 o'clock with two Juvenile League clubs scheduled to play at 1:30 o'clock.

Out at Admirals Road the Navy and Army elevens will meet in a scheduled Garrison Cup tilt, as the two service clubs continue their battle to keep out of the cellar berth. Game time will be 2:45 o'clock.

KILREA KEEPS GOING

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 1 (AP).—Walt Kilrea, of Hershey, went merrily on piling up an American Hockey League scoring record last week after eclipsing the old mark the week before. He added one goal and six assists, for eighty-four points with two more weeks of regular play to go. His erstwhile rival for top scoring honors, Lee Cunningham, of Cleveland, meanwhile fell to third in the race as Adam Brown, of Indianapolis, took over second with seventy-three points. Cunningham had seventy-two, and Harry Frost was fourth with sixty-nine.

There are still 3,639 London County Council hospital beds out of action because of war damage. Total put out of commission through enemy action was 14,626.

Named for Rich Race

Nominations Made For Preakness

BALTIMORE, March 1 (AP).—Forty-nine colts were named today by the Maryland Jockey Club as eligible for the fifty-third running of the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico race course May 8.

The wartime running of the $50,000-Added race, strictly a street car affair, will feature the closing day of a scheduled fifteen-day race meeting.

Missing from the list of eligibles for the race are such outstanding two-year-olds of last season as John Marsch's Occupation, winner of the Arlington and Belmont Futurities, and Mrs. John D. Hertz' Count Fleet, winner of the Pimlico Futurity and Winter-book favorite for the coming three-year-old classics.

After Count Fleet won the Futurity, however, Mrs. Hertz told President Henry Parr of the Jockey Club that the speedy son of Reign Count would be made a supplementary nomination for the Preakness.

Horses not originally nominated for the race—entries for which closed in July, 1941—may be made supplementary entries by payment of a $1,500 fee on or before April 15.

Count Fleet has been training well at Oaklawn, and at present shapes up as the favorite to win the triple crown races—the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

Among the prominent colts eligible are Calumet Farm's Ocean Wave, a winner at New Orleans; W. E. Boeing's Devil's Thumb; W. L. Brann's Vincentive, the Maryland hope; Greentree Stable's Picket, and Allen T. Simmons' Blue Swords.

Another colt which Pimlico officials expect to be named as a supplementary entry is Mill River Stable's Chop Chop, like Count Fleet a late-developing two-year-old.

Victoria Troops Flash Form in 10-1 Triumph

Second String Line Nets Five Goals—Big Crowd Attends

NEW WESTMINSTER, March 1 (CP).—Victoria Army trounced Vancouver R.C.A.F., 10-1, here tonight in the first game of the British Columbia senior hockey finals. Second game of the best-of-seven series will be played at New Westminster Wednesday.

Army led 3-1 at the end of the first period, 6-1 at the end of the second, and added another four in the third.

Scorers for Army were L.-Cpl. Elmer Kreller, Pte. "Pinky" Melnyk, Pte. Mel Lunde and Pte. Joffre Desilets each with two, and Pte. Sam Kennedy and Pte. Rudy Bobrosky. The lone Air Force counter was fired by A.C.1 Will Cook.

Pte. Hugh Sutherland, Army rear guard, was sent to the penalty box for five minutes when he tangled with A.C.1 Doug Verity in the third period. Verity was banished for two minutes.

A capacity crowd of about 5,000 saw the Vancouver Island League champions outclass the representatives of the Mainland loop.

Showing power in every department, from Art Rice-Jones in goal to the last sub up front, the powerhouse from the Island waltzed through the game scoring almost at will. Onlookers got the impression that the score could have been 20-0 if the soldiers had wanted to extend themselves.

Playing Coach Bill Carse, Desilets and Kreller, soldiers' first string, are a line that any major team would pay a lot of money to get. Bobrosky, built like a train, and Julian Sawchuk, built like the thin man, made a great pair on defence and stopped the Mainland attackers cold.

Starting like a house afire in the first period, Melnyk and Desilets had put the Army boys two up before half the period was gone. Melnyk with his delayed shooting and passing, caught the fancy of the fans when, time after time, he carried the puck right in on Campbell in the Air Force net, leaving the defence flat-footed.

Cook got the lone Air Force counter after fifteen minutes of play in the initial period. During one of the brief moments when they played like themselves, Roy, Shamlock and Cook hemmed the Army sextette behind their own blue line for about a minute, finally scoring with every player around the net.

After playing without a penalty to either side in the first period, both teams began to lay on the weight during the second, and four penalties were called. Goals by Melnyk, Kreller and Lunde brought the score to 6-1 for the Army. Any hope that Air Force fans had of their favorites throwing off their first-period jitters was blasted right then and there.

Three-quarters of the last period went by without any excitement whatsoever and most of the fans had settled down waiting for the final gong when action flared again.

ONLY FIGHT OF THE GAME

Sutherland and Verity started proceedings by obligingly staging a knock-down-drag-'em-out affair with Verity getting the better of the scrap by virtue of a bloody nose administered to Sutherland.

Then, with less than five minutes to play, the invaders rifled in four more bull's-eyes to make the final count 10-1. Bobrosky, Lunde, Desilets and Krelleg were the scorers.

At one time during the last period this star-studded club played a man short for seven consecutive minutes and two men short for two of those seven minutes and yet the Air Force boys could do nothing with their extra-man advantage.

Showing the most scintillating passing seen here all season, both forward lines seemed to be able to pass anywhere, anytime and be sure of a mate waiting to receive.

Bobrosky hit Eddie Shamlock so hard in the last period that he sent the Mighty Mite right through the door in the corner, knocking that barrier well down the aisle.

The Air Force promises a better showing Wednesday. Granted they were not at their best last night, but even playing over their heads they will have a tough time beating the club from the Island. They have everything, speed, passing, finish and that indefinable "feel" that enables them at all times to know where they should be and where the puck will be next.

WARMERDAM HONORED

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP).—Confident he can soar to still new world pole vault ceilings, Cornelius Warmerdam today formally received amateur sports' most highly-prized award—the annual James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy.

Lawrence Di Benedetto, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, made the formal presentation to the Pacific Coast vaulting great at a luncheon ceremony, and Warmerdam, accepting the trophy, said he "never felt better or more confident" about boosting his mark to new heights, although it already has reached the sky-scraping proportions of 15 feet 5¾ inches. His leap of 15 feet 7½ inches has not yet received approval as a world's record.

Draw Is Announced For Colonist Cup Soccer Series

PLAY for The Colonist Cup, emblematic of the Greater Victoria High Schools' soccer championship, will get under way on Wednesday, March 10, at Royal Athletic Park, with Victoria opposing Mount View. The match is scheduled for 4:30 o'clock. One week later, Esquimalt, present holders of the silverware, will meet Mount Douglas, with the two winners billed to meet in the final on March 24. All matches will be played at the Caledonia Avenue ground.

Play-Offs Will Start

Table Tennis Clubs To Meet in Finals

Second Division table tennis teams will open their city championship play-offs this evening at the Crystal Garden with the Owl Drug squad pitted against the Royal Air Force No. 3 team. The Old Country paddle artists are defending champions and are favored to annex the honors for the second time. The clubs will play a two-game series with total points deciding the winners.

Semi-finals in the junior division will get under way this week with matches scheduled on Thursday and Friday, with Lewis' Shoe Store playing the Tigers and Standard Stove Oil meeting Cave Printing. Finals will be played one week later.

Top players in the individual scoring race have already been decided. Ab Renfrew won the honors in the senior division, and J. Longbotham, R.A.F., paced the Second Division paddle artists. Keith Olson, recently crowned Western Canada champion, won the junior award. Trophies will be presented at the windup dance at the close of the season.

Play continued in the senior division last night at the Crystal Garden. R.A.F. No. 1 team defeated Hill's U-Drive, 23-13, to improve their lead in the league race, and Belcher's Movie Stars turned back the strong Chinese Students teams, 20-18, to retain second berth. Jokers triumphed over Sylvester's U-Drive to the tune of 21-15.

Barmaca and R.A.F. No. 2 were idle.

GRAPHIC GOLF

By BENT BALL

COMPETITIVE SPIRIT

While there have been many champions who have had trouble with their putting, not so many have been bothered about their drives. One of the few was Jerry Travers and Jerry did something about it. He switched over to a black driving iron and in Travers' hands it was a real war club. Confidence plays a large part in winning golf and with this implement the four times amateur champion had his share. Where the greater per cent of golfers steer clear of the No. 1 iron, and even the No. 2 is largely taboo, Travers made these low irons serve his purpose well. Much of his success with the heavy iron was due to his fighting spirit. Outweighed and outclubbed in many events, Travers put enough of his fighting spirit back of every shot to more than hold his own.

Once on the putting surface the pressure was invariably on the opponent. Travers belongs among the great putters of all time. If an opponent wasn't discouraged watching Travers bang out long tee shots with his black driving iron, he certainly wasn't far from it when Jerry started to sink long and short putts with deadly accuracy. Travers had many close matches, but those final ones, in which he clinched the open championship, were won by wide margins. The turn came in 1914 in the amateur when Quimet turned the tables by winning six up and five to go. In 1915 Travers wiped out this memory by winning the National Open, the second amateur to win this event.

Sports Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, March 1 (CP).—Wes Champ, who gained considerable hockey wisdom as owner of Regina Caps in the old Western Canada Professional League, looked over the National League teams on a visit East and made this pertinent comment on the race to the Stanley Cup wire: "In the end it can only be the three teams with good goaltending—Boston, Detroit and Toronto—because we've all learned that a club can't go anywhere in play-offs without a sound goalkeeper."

SIGNS OF SPRING

Baseball news is popping in Ontario's Niagara district, where all senior hockey teams have been eliminated from playdowns . . . Clayton (St. Catharines Standard) Browne volleys congratulations to Tommy Mofrison, of The Welland-Port Colborne Tribune, on his election as president of the Niagara League, and backhands a warning the job is no sinecure, president of a sports organization must act as a buffer between clubs, players, press and fans, and Browne cheers Morrison with this thought: "Without a doubt it was that continuous situation which hastened the death of Frank Calder, N.H.L. president" . . . Welland announced the first baseball import of the season—Frank Chase, third baseman at Hollinger, Ont., last year and a former Winnipegger.

CROSS-COUNTRY QUIPS

Toronto Star: "January was a grand skiing month, but February was simply thawful" . . . Dick (Port Arthur News-Chronicle) Elliot: "We see no other alternative for Jean Pusie but to pack him straightaway overseas. Apparently he's dying to fight somebody, whether it's a referee, a spectator or a rival player" . . . Murray Armstrong, of the Regina Army senior hockey team, asked why they continued to pile up big scores after clinching top place in the Saskatchewan League: "Listen, brother, I used to play for a team called New York Americans."

Buffalo Anderite, senior Porcupine Mines hockey champions, should have no goalkeeping worries. Their goalie's name is Vezina . . . Carle (Chuck) Athey, Vancouver boy who took to jockeying and exercising horses for Bing Crosby, is in the United States Army Air Corps and has been decorated for "meritorious service" in the South Pacific . . . Bunny Morganson, of The Toronto Telegram, says Murray Henderson's play on the Toronto R.C.A.F. defence alongside former N.H.L. stars, Eddie Bush, Crash McCaig and Ernie Dickens, "has marked the Toronto lad for a whirl in professional company" after the war.

Durocher Rejected

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP).—Leo (the Lip) Durocher was rejected by the United States Army at a physical examination for induction today and thus was left free to continue as manager of Brooklyn Dodgers.

The boisterous Brooklyn leader, who will be thirty-eight years old July 27, said he was turned down because of a perforated ear drum.

"I knew all along that my right ear drum was punctured," he told reporters, "but I didn't know whether it was such a serious thing as to keep me out of the army.

"I'm really disappointed, because I was all set to go and I hate to be turned down for a thing like this." He said he talked to the medical officer about something else, though, some other way in which I might be of service, and it may work out."

Durocher went to Brooklyn to report to Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, and begin anew on the problem of managing the club.

He was signed last November to his fifth year as pilot.

TOAST and TEA

By J. V. McAREE

ONE day, at a Toronto race track, in the course of the Fall meeting, a woman won the daily double to which she was not entitled. A mutuel clerk had given her a wrong ticket but did not recognize his mistake until she had walked away. He could not identify her and knew that if he could not get the ticket back he would have to pay the track management almost $300.00. So an appeal was made over the track's loud speaker, and the woman, to the surprise of many people, turned up and handed back the ticket. We were speaking of this to a bookmaker and he said, "Lucky a man didn't get it." He figured that not one man in five would have shown the woman's honesty, and he spoke from long experience with men and women betters. In his view, women are far more honest in such transactions than are men. They rarely welsh on bets. We do not know whether this holds good of other transactions, but mention it as the judgment of a man who has a wide acquaintance with both men and women who are interested in making bets on the horses.

TITLE BOUT CANCELED

CLEVELAND, March 1 (AP).—Matchmaker Larry Atkins announced tonight cancellation of a return fifteen-round world featherweight title match between Jackie Callura, of Hamilton, Ont., and Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson.

Atkins said the bout, scheduled here March 10, was erased twenty-four hours after it was arranged, because a $500-appearance and weight forfeit was not posted for Wilson.

Callura gained National Boxing Association recognition as featherweight champion when he outpointed Wilson in a fifteen-rounder at Providence, R.I., January 18.

THE SIX FOODSTUFFS NEEDED BY THE BODY

By JAS. W. BARTON, M.D.

We are reading so much about vitamins now that we are apt to forget about the other kinds of food that should be eaten daily, our old friends meat, potatoes, other vegetables and bread. These foods are needed just as much as vitamins.

Before the discovery of vitamins there were what is known as the five classes of foods (a) proteins, (b) carbohydrates, (c) fats, (d) minerals and (e) water. It was known that if some of these five classes of foods were eaten daily there would be no "deficiency" diseases. The same holds good today.

The only difference between the days of the past and today is that research workers on food have been able to show that many of us are not getting enough minerals and vitamins, and are eating too much carbohydrates.

It might be well, therefore, to brush up our minds on the various foodstuffs so that we'll know, without having to think about it, whether or not we are getting all of the foodstuffs and in about the right proportions.

Proteins or nitrogenous foods are (a) animal proteins and (b) vegetable proteins. Animal proteins are meats, fowl, fish, eggs, cheese and milk; vegetable proteins are nuts, cereals, oats, wheat, corn, peas.

The animal proteins are richer in protein and a larger percentage of protein value is taken up by the body processes.

The chief use of proteins in the body is to supply material for building or rebuilding worn body tissues. This is the reason that where hard physical work is done, the percentage of proteins in the diet is always increased. Also, proteins must be eaten every day as they cannot be stored away for future use as can starch and fat foods. For children much of the protein should be supplied by milk. In the teen age more meat should be eaten for purposes of growth.

Carbohydrates (starches) sugar and starches are practically the same after they are digested. Nearly all carbohydrates come from vegetables except milk and sugar. Common carbohydrate foods are any kind of starch or sugar; flour from wheat, barley, corn, oats, rice, tapioca; patent cereals, syrup, molasses, honey and jam.

The chief use of carbohydrates is to supply heat and energy to the body. As the body needs heat to keep the body processes active and also needs heat to supply the muscles that do our daily work, about three-fifths of all the food eaten daily should be carbohydrates.

Fat Foods—All fats and oils, although they give energy are considered more as storage foods to be used in emergencies, to keep the framework of the body covered or padded to prevent injury, and to support the organs in the abdomen so they will remain up in their proper places. Principal fats are butter, cream, fat meats, suet, lard, nuts, olive oil, cod liver oil, cotton seed oil.

Fats have three main uses in the body: (a) fuel or food for future use stored under the skin and in other parts of the body; (b) add flavor and a "satiafied" feeling to the diet, and (c) fats are rich in vitamin "A" and contain considerable vitamin "D."

Mineral Foods—These are called mineral salts, and as they are not used or burned up by the body processes, they are called the ash. There are base-forming and acid-forming minerals. Base-forming are sodium potassium, calcium, magnesium and iron. Acid-forming are chlorine, sulphur, phosphorus and carbon.

Chief use of minerals in the body: (a) to form a part of the structure of all the cells of the body, and (b) to regulate various processes in the body such as clotting of blood, contracting of muscles, exchange of body fluids, making nerves responsive to light, heat, taste, smell, and other conditions which stimulate or irritate the nerves.

Vitamins—Vitamins are not really foods in the sense that proteins, carbohydrates and fats are foods, but are substances present in foods in very small amounts. They are absolutely necessary for growth and maintaining health.

Vitamin "A" is necessary to ward off infections, protect skin and mucous membrance surfaces, and for growth. Vitamin "B" and its combinations are necessary for growth, maintaining the appetite, protecting nerves. Vitmain "C" prevents scurvy, decay of teeth, thin blood, and underweight. Vitamin "D" prevents rickets in children. Vitamin "E" helps maintain health of the reproduction system.

Water is needed by every cell in the body, not only for cell structure, but every cell is like a tiny fish and can only live if surrounded by water.

Blue Devils Win Fixture

Chalk Up 8-6 Grid Triumph

Scoring the deciding points on a safety touch late in the final quarter of a bitterly-contested game, V.M.D. Blue Devils, Sunday, defeated Hoyle-Brown, 8-6, in a six-man Canadian Football League fixture at Windsor Park, Oak Bay.

Jack Kirk opened the scoring for the V.M.D. in the first quarter with a neat pass interception on his own twenty-yard line and raced for a touchdown. Tommy Druce converted.

There was no scoring in the second, but in the third session Hoyle-Brown tied up the game. Bob Hetherington gained possession on a pass interception and the touchdown was converted.

Aided by numerous offside penalties called on the Blue Devils, Hoyle-Brown were within one yard of the V.M.D. line but each time they were thrown back. Tempers flared late in the third period and Sturrock and Druce were banished for fighting.

Near the end of the match V.M.D. drove deep into Hoyle-Brown territory with a quick-kicking offensive which finally paid off when they secured a safety-touch.

At the Theatres

Unique Thriller Now at Dominion

A strange romance interwoven with a frightening Balkan legend forms the unusual theme of "Cat People," RKO Radio's new thrill picture, featuring Simone Simon, Kent Smith and Jane Randolph.

The romance, opening at the Dominion Theatre today, is a triangle laid in modern New York city; the legend is one going back many centuries into Serbian annals, dealing with women who have the power of transforming themselves into panthers and slaying any man who dares to marry them. How these contrasting ideas are blended makes the many breathless moments of the picture, with Simone playing the part of a mysterious Balkan girl who is afraid to let herself love any man.

ATLAS THEATRE No question about the modernity of "You Can't Escape Forever," the newspaper story with George Brent and Brenda Marshall in the starring roles, which ends tonight at the Atlas Theatre. Large pictures of Generals Douglas MacArthur and George Marshall decorate the walls of the city room setting. Among the various news maxims posted on walls and bulletin boards are such war slogans as "Open Your Yap and Help a Jap."

CADET THEATRE "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which is now showing at the Cadet Theatre, is probably the most hilarious feast since the knife and fork were invented, for the play which rocked Broadway for two solid years is even more delightfully funny in the Warner Bros. screen version. The notable flock of guests is headed by Bette Davis, Ann Sheridan, Monty "The Man" Woolley and Jimmy Durante. Reginald Gardiner, Richard Travis and others with Billie Burke and Grant Mitchell as hosts.

CAPITOL THEATRE Miss Greenwood, one of the top laugh getters in the show business, has interspersed her theatrical tours around the world with the cinema on exactly three occasions. Her present screen career with 20th Century-Fox has reached a new high for her in her current featured role in "Springtime in the Rockies," Technicolor musical triumph, starring John Payne, Betty Grable, Carmen Miranda, Cesar Romero and Harry James and his Music Makers. The film is now at the Capitol Theatre.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES George Brent, Bruce Cabot and Eugene Pallette had to brush up on their etiquette today, but not through any fault of their own. The actors just weren't versed in the customs of our forefathers. The question of etiquette arose in connection with the proper use of goldheaded canes in "Silver Queen," a drama picturing life in 1870, now showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Brent plays the hero of the film, Cabot the gentleman-villain and Pallette the millionnaire-father of Priscilla Lane, blonde heroine.

RIO THEATRE From cinematic detective to crook. That is the transition made by Edmund Lowe, who portrays the role of top confidence man in the comedy, "I Love You, Again," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy and showing at the Rio Theatre. "I Love You Again" is a fast-moving comedy of the twentieth century, dealing with a man who suddenly recovers from an eight-year attack of amnesia to discover that he has acquired a snow-white reputation, a wife, a bank account and a pottery works.

YORK THEATRE "Mrs. Miniver," Jan Struther's best-selling novel, dealing with the high courage of the English middle classes under air raids and war terrors, is brought to the screen as a living, breathing reality by Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon and a perfectly chosen cast in the M-G-M picture now showing at the York Theatre. The story deals with Mrs. Miniver and her husband, Clem, played by Miss Garson and Pidgeon, teamed for the second time since "Blossoms in the Dust."

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small cost to take and will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (A6781)

Urges Public to Buy Respirators

A direct appeal to the public of Victoria to secure gas masks was made yesterday by Inspector A. H. Bishop, A.R.P. controller, who pointed out that the Canadian Government recognizes the danger of gas warfare and has made respirators available for every resident of the city.

"One of the latest orders issued to the German people by Hitler is that every man, woman and child will in future carry a gas respirator and practice wearing it each day," he said. "This seems to indicate that our enemies will use gas as a weapon of war."

Most school children now have respirators, he said, but they constitute a small part of the population. Others, apparently, are not interested, he said.

"Wardens are trained in gas protection and decontamination work," he said, "but it will be impossible for the A.R.P. organization to give protection in an emergency unless the public is equipped with respirators.

"As chief civilian protection officer of the city, I am not interested in who pays for the masks," Inspector Bishop said, "but I am vitally interested in seeing that everyone has a respirator, and knows how to use it."

Liquor Ration Forty Ounce Bottle Monthly

One Bottle of Wine Also; Beer Unchanged

Additional restrictions on the purchase of liquor, limiting the amount that may be bought by a permit holder to one forty-ounce bottle of spirits and one bottle of wine a month, to be bought at one time, were announced yesterday by W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board.

No change was made in the rationing of beer and ale, and a permit holder may still purchase two dozen pints of beer or ale a week. Purchasers, however, were granted one concession, in that they will be permitted to buy two dozen pints at one time instead of having to visit the vendor's store twice to obtain their maximum allowance for the week.

Mr. Kennedy said it is expected the board will be able to supply only 15 per cent of the normal demand up to October 31. It is able to supply only 40 per cent of last year's stock, and the demand is up 50 per cent, he explained.

Strict rationing, he said, is the only way in which the situation can be met.

With March liquor quotas becoming available here yesterday, Government liquor stores had an even greater rush than on Saturday, as crowds of customers arrived at the stores early to fill needs which could not be met with depleted stocks at the week-end.

They had two disappointments, however. Shelves were still bare early in the day, and it was some time before busy clerks could fill them with stocks from the March quotas.

Customers were also surprised to find that the new regulations permitting only one purchase of forty ounces of spirits and one gallon of wine per month became effective yesterday, with no provision made for a purchaser buying only half the quantity allowed and the rest later in the month.

City to Enter Fuel Business

A by-law giving the City Council power to purchase and sell wood and coal was introduced and read at a meeting yesterday afternoon and will be finally passed at the next regular session.

Alderman John A. Worthington gave notice of motion that he intended to suggest a sum of money be placed in estimates so the city will be able to purchase and store fuel to be sold to citizens next Winter.

"We do not want a repetition of the chaotic cold weather situation," he remarked.

Motorists on The Beam Again

Modified Dim-Out Rules Approved

Despite public clamor for an easing of dim-out restrictions, only two out of every three motorists last night availed themselves of the first opportunity in more than three months to drive with headlights full on, save in waterfront areas, where [illegible] apply.

A check of 700 cars showed the following reaction:

Bright lights	64
Dimout lights	32
Parking lights	0
No lights	2
One light only	2
Total	100

Motorists generally were favorable to the change, particularly concerning the beam and its effect on the safety of drivers approaching intersections.

As one driver put it, "The dim-out lights gave us no protection against cars coming out of side streets and crossroads. Until now it has been a case of every man for himself, and all of us in virtual darkness. There should be fewer intersectional accidents now."

SOME BOTHERED BY GLARE

After using dim-out lights for several months, some drivers admittedly were bothered by the glare of oncoming cars whose owners did not trouble to switch to dimmers, with which every modern car is equipped for night driving.

For a time last night, city police received many phone calls from citizens wishing to confirm news reports of the lifting of dim-out restrictions. The police also reported a decline in the number of accidents, but were quick to point out that Monday night traffic usually is very light in comparison with that of Saturday and Sunday.

"Let's see what happens next week-end, when some drivers are bound to be feeling a bit high," one police official remarked.

Bus and stage line drivers reported little or no trouble. Experienced men, they made no complaint of bright lights, to which they had become accustomed in normal times. "It was a bit strange for half an hour or so," one driver conceded, "but everything was all right after we had passed the first few cars coming from the opposite direction."

Street car headlights were on full strength, but interiors were dark as usual, the street cars being subject to restrictions imposed by the general dim-out order governing interior lights in homes, stores and offices.

One lady, still using dim-out lights and driving carefully, pulled into the curb on Douglas Street. "I think the new order is fine," she said, "but I've become so used to driving in semi-darkness that I just forgot to remove my blinkers."

Judge Calls Jury Service a Matter Of Public Duty

"The sheriff is experiencing difficulty in procuring a jury. This being a matter of public duty, I would suggest that you serve."

The reluctant citizen thus addressed by Mr. Justice H. I. Bird bowed his acceptance, as did several others at the opening of the Spring Assizes yesterday.

To another who evidently felt his services essential to a vital war industry, His Lordship remarked: "Your firm are large employers, and I have no doubt they can put up with the inconvenience of your absence for a day or two."

A small shopkeeper protested that he could not close a store in which he is entirely without help, but the court felt that it might be possible for him to manage for a single day, and the application to be excused was withdrawn.

Only one prospective juror failed to respond when called. He was sent for. Another, very hard of hearing, was excused, as were a few key men in obviously essential services and two or three others who were above the age limit.

Addressing himself to the older men, His Lordship urged those whose health was not seriously impaired to serve and the response to this appeal was generous. Only one elderly man felt that his physical condition would not permit him to serve, an opinion in which the court concurred.

The present session is expected to be short.

Programme Will Mark Centenary

Special radio programmes have been arranged to mark Victoria's centenary, according to word received yesterday by Alderman Duncan D. McTavish, from Prof. Ira Dilworth, British Columbia regional representative of station CBR. Alderman McTavish is chairman of the civic centenary committee.

A dramatic show dealing with the 100-year history of the city will be presented from 7:30 to 8 o'clock on the night of March 16. Dr. Kaye Lamb, former provincial archivist, will speak on Victoria from 4:45 to 5 o'clock on the afternoon of March 18. There will also be talks on the life of Mrs. Dunsmuir and Mrs. R. B. McMicking, pioneers, and special programmes for schools from station CBR.

Oaklands A.R.P. Holds Gas Test

A successful A.R.P. practice, which tested the wardens' ability to deal with poison gas, incendiary bombs and varied casualties, was held in District 3, Oaklands, last night, under the direction of W. H. Muncy, district warden.

In all, fifteen incidents occurred, which tested all branches of the A.R.P. organization, the St. John Ambulance Corps and the Women's Ambulance Corps. First aid points and facilities at Royal Jubilee Hospital were in use.

Arrangements for the test were made by Mr. Muncy, J. T. Gawthrop and Eric Day. Incidents were witnessed by Inspector A. H. Bishop, A.R.P. controller; Alderman J. A. Worthington and Dr. C. S. Beals, gas officer of the Provincial Civilian Protection Committee.

Although the test last night and others similar proved valuable in training personnel, Inspector Bishop said, they cover too large an area for educational purposes. In future, he said, they will be confined to one block, in order that all might witness the proper procedure.

Suggests Building Of Dressing Rooms At Esquimalt Park

A suggestion that construction of athletes' dressing rooms at Bullen Park might be a good investment was made by Councillor F. G. Eaton at a meeting last night of the Esquimalt Municipal Council. He was supported by Councillor J. P. A. Christensen, who said sporting activity should be encouraged.

He spoke in regard to a letter from the Esquimalt Athletic Association which reported that its hall on Fraser Street, near the park, would not be available without remuneration to teams playing at the park.

Reeve A. Lockley pointed out that such dressing rooms had never been found successful and required considerable upkeep. At his suggestion the matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Air Raid Sirens Stop

Air raid sirens, which have been turning at slow speed through the Winter to prevent freezing and subsequent failure to act in case of an emergency, were stopped yesterday, but will continue to be tested every day at 2 p.m., A.R.P. authorities said.

Esquimalt Plans New Garage for Fire Equipment

To Be Suitable as Emergency Shelter

After reviewing plans for a frame and stucco garage, to be erected near the Esquimalt Municipal Hall for the shelter of fire trucks and other equipment, members of the municipal council, at their meeting last night, decided tenders could now be called for its construction.

Although the building is intended for garage purposes only, Councillor J. P. A. Christensen suggested it might serve as an emergency shelter in the event of homes being destroyed.

The council granted eight requests from residents for the use of property made by Mrs. E. Davidson, J. W. Phillips and G. B. Hammond. It will permit a tag day on March 6, as was requested by the Committee for Medical Aid to China.

Upon being informed that a light truck was available, the council decided to buy it for use as an auxiliary fire truck in A.R.P. District 3.

A complaint from E. L. Tait of an offensive litter at the intersection of Sturdee Street and Esquimalt Road was referred to the police department, while a notice from Royal Jubilee Hospital that the charge for isolation ward patients has been increased from $4 to $5 per day was received and filed.

Must Have Coupon Bank Accounts for Rationed Products

Public caterers, such as restaurants and institutions, can no longer obtain supplies of rationed commodities by means of RB-17 requisition forms, according to the local ration office.

Instead, under regulations which became effective yesterday, they must open a coupon bank account and deposit a copy of their quota authorization with the bank. Their quotas of sugar, tea or coffee, and butter, will then be credited to their respective accounts for these commodities, and they must issue cheques against these accounts when securing orders from suppliers.

Application forms for coupon bank accounts are being supplied to quota users with their March quotas. They should be filled in and taken to their banks, the ration officer said.

Until banks ascertain the volume of the work required, and the number of accounts of this type that will be handled, they cannot tell whether additional help will be needed, the accountant of one large bank said yesterday. In another month, when coupons are deposited, the need for extra help can be determined, he said.

Edward Bull Trial Delayed One Day

Due to the illness of a vital witness, a postponement of one day was granted by Mr. Justice H. I. Bird before whom Edward Bull appeared at the opening session of the Spring Assizes yesterday in connection with the death of four-year-old Sydney Albert Auringer, Royal Oak, killed on the East Saanich Road when struck on the afternoon of Christmas Eve, 1942, by a car allegedly driven by Bull.

Adjournment until 11 a.m. Tuesday was at the request of Carew Martin, K.C., acting for the Crown. Defence counsel, Norman Whittaker, K.C., offered no objection. A jury remains to be chosen.

Schools Entered

Vandals who forced their way into Spring Ridge School during the week-end ransacked the building and left a litter of chalk and papers in the classrooms.

Three windows were smashed at Victoria West School and a large window was broken in a vacant store at Quadra and North Park Streets.

Mrs. A. Logie reported to police yesterday morning that a gold locket with a pearl centre and chain and $8 in cash had been stolen from her home at 2505 Empire Street.

T. Barrett, 128 Michigan Street, informed police on Sunday that his fourteen-foot sailboat had been stolen from the Inner Harbor.

Tardy Residents Apply for Books At Ration Office

Hundreds of residents, each with a good excuse, applied at the ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board yesterday for a new ration book, having failed to secure a book from one of the many centres open in the city and district last week.

Additional helpers were required to make out the new books, as the regular staff at the office could not handle the demand.

The local ration officer advised yesterday that any person whose new book does not bear his name, as written by the issuing clerk, should bring the book to the ration office for checking. In a number of cases last week clerks failed to write the applicant's name on the new book, he said.

Building Permits Include Two Homes

Fifty-three permits for new construction and alterations valued at $38,121 were issued by the city building inspector last month. The permits include a duplex dwelling to cost $6,800 and a four-room $2,750 house.

During February, 1942, the city granted forty-two permits representing $47,056. They included a five-room $2,785 home and another valued at $2,200.

Large Amount Paid Towards Tax Bills

Figures released at the City Hall yesterday showed that $491,056 had been paid on account of current taxes during the first two months of the year. The sum on hand at February 28, 1942, was $491,693.

On account of taxes in arrears, the city received $18,322 during the past two months, compared with $19,600 paid in January and February in 1942.

Pending a new mill rate, the tax office is accepting 16 per cent less than the amount of 1942 taxes, and interest at a rate of 5 per cent is allowed.

City Sells Ten Lots

Sale of ten reverted lots for $1,325 in various parts of the city was recommended by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the lands committee, and approved at a City Council meeting yesterday.

Other sales included a shack for $10, a shed for $400, a house at 1264 Denman Street for $700, and four old homes on Pemrell Street for $150. The old houses will be demolished to make way for new buildings. It was decided to rescind a demolition order for a house at 1118 North Park Street and carry out repairs instead.

RATION COUPON BANKING

Beginning March 1st, the 3,200 branches of the Chartered Banks of Canada, undertake another wartime service, namely Ration Coupon Banking. It is a vital part of the nation-wide rationing program.

Facts You Should Know

1 If you are a merchant, jobber, wholesaler or other dealer receiving ration coupons from your customers, your bank stands ready to show you how to deposit or otherwise deal with the coupons you receive. The same applies if you are a "quota-user."

2 It has nothing whatever to do with your regular bank account, in which you deposit dollars and draw cheques in dollars.

3 It is purely a relationship between dealers and commercial banks. Ration Banking begins only after the consumer has used his coupons to purchase rationed commodities.

4 The banks' job is mainly of an accounting nature—acting as an agent of the Ration Administration, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, under carefully defined regulations.

5 Ration Coupon Banking relieves the Ration Administration of the tremendous burden of handling, verifying and accounting for used coupons with which consumers have obtained their supplies.

6 If you are a consumer only, it in no way affects how much or how little of rationed commodities you receive. Banks do not issue ration coupons, nor do they have anything to do with the actual rationing of commodities.

By this important addition to the many wartime services they perform, the Chartered Banks serve the nation, facilitate business, and seek to save time and expense to the country.

Her Hands Were Helpless With Rheumatic Pains

At one time this woman thought she would lose the use of her right hand. But evening and morning use of Kruschen saved her right again.

"I was up in a bad state," she writes. "In fact I could not do my housework. I was so bad with rheumatic pains in my arms and hands. I was so stiff at times I could not put on my clothes. I was getting quite worried when I read about Mrs. Brown's wonderful recovery through Kruschen and made up my mind to try it. I was not disappointed. Within a month I was feeling a different woman. I can now do my housework without pain and my friends remark on my youthful appearance. I thank Mrs. Brown for telling me about Kruschen and now I always recommend Kruschen to my friends."

Re-Elected Head Of Yacht Club

Col. Pepler Choice Of Annual Meeting

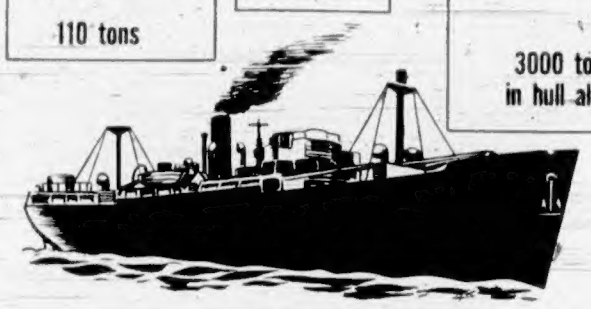
At the biggest annual gathering bers of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club selected club officers for the ensuing year at the Cadboro Bay clubhouse on Saturday night last, the attendance augurring well for 1943 activities. Col. Eric Pepler was re-elected commodore. Other flag officers for the year are: Vice-commodore, J. M. Green; rear commodore, Dr. B. Nickells; fleet captain, H. Ward; measurer, R. V. James; fleet chaplain, Rev. A. E. de L. Nunns; club historian, B. B. Temple; committee, H. Gann, H. Golby, F. Robertson, A. Mellin, W. Walsh, M. Young; club secretary, Fred Lawrence.

In his review of the past year, Commodore Pepler stated that despite the war the normal activities of the club had been maintained, the sailing races having been well contested, as the numerous trophies presented bore evidence. The social side of the club's activities were not neglected either, the energetic chairman of entertainment, H. Golby, receiving commendation for enjoyable dances and the sailing races staged between navy men and club members, also the inter-service meets which featured several week-ends. A birthday party was also one of the highlights of the club season, when B. B. Temple celebrated his eightieth birthday with a large gathering of members.

Commodore Pepler expressed his thanks and appreciation to the officers, the committee and secretary for their loyalty and co-operation in helping to run the affairs of the club. He paid especial tribute to Fleet Captain J. M. Green for the able manner in which he had organized the sailing programmes and the lectures arranged during the Winter months, and also to G. Harris, chairman of finances, who devoted considerable time and thought to the club's finances.

Reports on the year were also made by chairmen of the various committees: House, A. Mellin; sailing, J. M. Green; finance, G. Harris; entertainment, H. Golby. Recommendations to the incoming committees were made by Measurer R. V. James.

PART OF THE METAL NEEDED TO BUILD A CANADIAN 10,000-TON CARGO SHIP



Canada's 10,000-ton cargo ships are big boats. Enormous quantities of metal are required for their construction, as shown in the above pictograph. These vessels are of the same dimensions as the well-known United States Liberty ships: 427 feet long, 57 feet wide, with a draft of 25 feet. They have a speed of about ten to eleven knots. Five yards on the West Coast and three in the East, with a total employment of 35,000 workers, are engaged in building these vessels.

Japanese Airmen No Longer Attack In Large Numbers

On the Down Grade Chennault Believes

WITH THE U.S. AIR FORCE IN CHINA, Feb. 28 (Delayed) (AP).—Brig.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault expressed belief in an interview today that the Japanese Air Force had "hit grade."

The commander of the China Air Force and former leader of the American Volunteer Group's Flying Tigers, said:

"From evidence of various sources the enemy has run into two bottle necks — aircraft production and training airmen."

His reserve stock of planes is being used up and he is getting short of trained personnel because of heavy losses, he said.

The general said the Japanese no longer are getting the results they formerly achieved; that they no longer are attacking in overwhelming numbers in the South Pacific, that they offered no effective air opposition to Allied air raids upon Burma; said that upon several occasions Japanese seeking to bomb Yunnan and Assam air fields lost most of their planes.

"The bomber crews they are employing lately are unskilled compared to those encountered last year," he said.

Asked if there was any change in the outlook for the China theatre since the first of the year, Gen. Chennault said "Things appear more hopeful." He paused then and added "after the Casablanca Conference."

He said the improved outlook rested largely on plans at present, "although things are moving."

Answering a direct question, the general said he was of the personal opinion that after Hitler was crushed "it would not take long" with the combined weight of the United Nations, to smash Japan.

Physical Fitness Is Basis of Good Pilot Airman Tells Cadets

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., March 1 (CP).—Flying Officer George Beurling, D.S.O., D.F.C., D.F.M. and Bar, in an address today said training given to Allied pilots is vastly superior to that given enemy pilots and added that Allied fighter planes were more than equal to anything the foe had to offer.

He was addressing members of the Medicine Hat air cadets and personnel of No. 34 Service Flying Training School.

In praising the combined air training plan he urged all future pilots to absorb all knowledge possible in navigation and armament and to put it to practical use as often as they could in their exercises.

The fundamental basis of a good pilot was physical fitness, Beurling said, and advised them not to skip their physical training classes.

There are 400 airports in Brazil and several schools for civilian flyers.

Girls Trained In a few weeks

To do exacting work of skilled operators.

With what enthusiasm you tackle the new job. You want to help win the war and here is work which is really worth while.

Naturally so radical a change of occupation may bring a considerable strain on the nervous system and at times you may become chronically tired out, irritable and discouraged.

How are you to keep fit and keep going is the problem. Well, perhaps you may find the answer in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has helped many a war worker over a tough spot and why shouldn't it help you.

The vitamin B1 and essential food minerals contained in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food seem to be exactly what many people need to help them regain and maintain the health and vigor of the nervous system.

For this reason you are not making much of an experiment when you begin its use. The important point is to use it regularly for a few weeks until you feel that you are real well again and enjoy your work.

Be sure to ask for the new economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Tanker Is Refloated

PORTLAND, Ore., March 1 (CP).—The 16,500-ton tanker Schenectady, the first launched by Henry Kaiser's Swan Island Shipyards, was refloated today as the yards launched a sister tanker, the New London.

The Schenectady cracked in two while at the outfitting dock January 16. The halves were rejoined in a drydock. R. J. Willis, War Shipping Administration representative, said the vessel would be ready for sea after a few additional minor repairs.

Never Was Transit MORE VITAL!

THERE WAS ROOM FOR US AT THE BACK!

It does make you mad, doesn't it—when a transit vehicle with the front end jammed—but with standing room at the rear—passes you by at a street corner.

So please, when you're a passenger yourself, have a heart! Think about the people waiting on corners farther along the line (you might be in their shoes tomorrow) and help make room for them.

Your courtesy in moving to the rear will help us with the all-important job of accommodating everyone who needs a ride. And you'll usually find a bit more elbow room yourself at the rear of the vehicle.

French Admiral Forced to Hand Over His Ships

Surrender Followed Massacre Threats

LONDON, March 1 (CP).—Fighting French Headquarters said today it had received a document disclosing that the Germans obtained control of a small squadron of French warships stationed at Tunis through a threat to massacre all personnel down "to the last officer and rating."

French Admiral Jean Estéva was given but half an hour to surrender his flotilla of a dozen submarines, an unstated number of small auxiliary ships and some merchant vessels when the Germans landed at the capital to counter Allied landings to the west, the Fighting French said.

They reported that a copy of the German commander's ultimatum had been received in London. Esteva was said to have been ordered to hand over his ammunition and every other type of military equipment as well as the ships.

He was warned that any damage or destruction would be considered sabotage and punished by death, and that no prisoners would be taken.

The Fighting French said the admiral circularized copies of the ultimatum among his officers and then handed over the ships and equipment to the Germans. Hundreds of the French sailors and marines, however, deserted prior to the surrender, the Fighting French said.

Frigate Cost Not to Exceed Fixed Amount

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP).—Frigates under construction in the Yarrow Shipbuilding Yards at Victoria are being built on a cost basis with bonuses, the total not to exceed a fixed amount per vessel, said a reply tabled in the House of Commons today by Munitions Minister Howe for Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East).

Bonuses are provided for the reduction of costs under a target estimate on direct labor and material and also on a time schedule for quick delivery.

"There has been no hold-up in the work of the shipyard due to shortages of material," the minister's reply said. "The schedule of work was arranged to conform to the delivery of components to the shipyard."

Frigates are the new and larger corvettes now under construction in Canada.

Navy Personnel Busily Engaged On Both Coasts

Most Officers and Ratings R.C.N.V.R.

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP).—Seventy-four per cent of the officers in the Canadian Navy are members of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, Navy Minister Macdonald said in reply tabled today in the House of Commons for Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South).

R.C.N.V.R. ratings comprise 83 per cent of total personnel. Royal Canadian Navy officers comprise 10 per cent of the officer strength and R.C.N. ratings 7 per cent of the total strength of ratings. Royal Canadian Naval Reserve personnel form 16 per cent of the officers and 10 per cent of the ratings.

In answer to an inquiry by Mr. Gillis as to whether it was the intention to grant representation to reserve officers and ratings by appointment of an officer to the Navy Board, Mr. Macdonald replied that the secretary of the board already is an R.C.N.V.R. officer.

In another reply, for G. K. Fraser (Prog. Con., Peterborough West), Mr. Macdonald said the Canadian Navy has 38 per cent of its officers employed wholly at sea.

The reply said another 22 per cent are based at Halifax and 8 per cent at Esquimalt, many of them on both sea and shore duty; 9 per cent are at Naval Service Headquarters; 8 per cent at training divisions, and the other 17 per cent at the other shore points, many engaged in both sea and shore duties.

Calling for Tenders

Bids are being invited for addition and repairs to the ordnance wharf, an extension to the refitting wharf, the construction of floats and dolphins, excavation, fill, the construction of retaining walls, a rectifier building and electrical installation at H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt. Figures on this work close in Ottawa on March 12.

BRAVE, RESCUED SEAMEN need your help!

EVERY DAY fearless seamen are snatched from the cold clutches of the sea. Their sole possessions are on their backs. Personal belongings and clothing have gone down with their torpedoed ship.

On board the vessels of the R.C.N. and the Merchant Navy, the warm, friendly hand of the Red Cross reaches out to each one of them. First Aid, food and shelter are provided. Each man receives a new dunnage bag complete with the things a seaman needs. The Red Cross heals their bodies, revives their spirits, renews their morale.

Will you take your part in this mission of mercy? Will you help to send food parcels to our boys in enemy prisons? Will you reach out a helping hand to suffering humanity in Greece, China, Russia? Today the need is great—and growing. Give generously.

"The Boy From Maine"

By KATHARINE BRUSH

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Outwardly they accepted each other's little flirtations, and Rosalie made smiling public allusions to what she called "Bailey's roving eyes." But it was true—it was still true—that she loved Bailey more than anyone in the world except herself, and secretly she was more jealous of him than he was of her—furthermore she suspected that she went to great pains to conceal how very much this worried her. She was careful to keep her own score equal to his, as far as outside interests and admiration were concerned—she had to. It was a reassurance to herself, and a protection of her pride; it was the lying gesture by which she said to Bailey, "Look. You see? I am not afraid of losing you."

And that was the Rosalie Hobey went to have cocktails with, except that he didn't know it yet—he didn't know anything about her. He hoped he would find her alone; and something about the way her invitation had been given made him sure he would.

The apartment house where the Harkers lived this year was on Park Avenue. A Japanese houseman answered his ring, and disappeared to announce him, and returned again to hiss that Mrs. Harker would be a few minutes. Almost at the same time, Rosalie's own voice called to him, from some unseen inner room, through open doorways. "Hobey?"

"Yes. Hello there," he said.

"Hello yourself."

She had always had the most exciting voice in all the world.

"I'm so sorry to keep you waiting," she continued blithely. "I'm a little late, as usual. I'm always a little late. Have Toy bring you something to drink and I'll be out there in two seconds. . . ."

So he was left alone in Rosalie's living-room; he thought it only as hers, not as Harker's at all, because it looked like her. Take it all in, he thought, and he looked carefully at everything, partly because he wanted to remember it all, and partly for the clues it might give him as to the kind of person Rosalie was now, and the kind of life she led, and the things she liked . . . He tried to figure out whether this was a place where happy people lived, or whether it was merely festive—a place for parties. Somehow it looked a little like that, the more he scrutinized it.

It was an attractive room. There were flowers everywhere, flaring beautifully from their vases—well arranged. He wondered whether she had done them. In the little foyer that was like an alcove off this room there was a small bar—pulpit-sized—built snugly into a corner, with four barstools ranged around it, and with mirrors in back. The opposite wall of the alcove was made of books, from floor to ceiling. Hobey got up and strolled across and looked at the books. They were practically all novels, like a circulating library. He squatted down and glanced over the titles on the lower shelves. Here there was a history of the World War—half a shelf of that—and a record of the 36th Division in the war, and some old Yale yearbooks. Wedged in among these was a copy of "The Five Little Peppers." He plucked it out with his forefinger and looked at the flyleaf, and, just as he had known it would be, Rosalie's girlhood signature was there, "Rosalie Hastings," and the address of the house on Beacon Street. No date, but just the scrag-gling writing before it was full-grown. He replaced the book, putting it back. Then he looked at his fingers, and they were dusty, and he smiled again. Not a good housekeeper. Well, but all right. He liked that. He wouldn't have expected or wanted Rosalie to be a good housekeeper, ever.

She came suddenly into the room in a little laughing breathless rush. "I'm so-o-o sorry." She gave Hobey both her hands, just as she had last night, smiled radiantly and seemed enchanted to see him. He said, "Let me look at you," and he backed her off, still holding her two hands, and looked at the costume she had on, because it was made to be looked at. It was a kind of tea gown, with long accordion-pleated skirt and an embroidered Chinese jacket, all very effective, a little theatrical. "Do you like it?" Rosalie said. "It's new. I've never worn it before. I've been waiting for an occasion—and this is the occasion."

"You say the nicest things."

"I mean them, too," said Rosalie, sometimes. I've been thrilled all day about last night, and about discovering you again . . . Bailey was sorry to miss you," she added punctiliously. "He's gone to the football game at New Haven. He took the people we were with last night. I was supposed to go, too, but I ducked it—chiefly because you were coming to see me."

There were two comfortable-looking couches set perpendicularly to the fireplace—a big one and a small one, facing each other—and Rosalie chose the small one and sat in one corner of it and patted the other corner with her hand. "Sit here . . ."

But Hobey took the couch opposite. "I'd rather sit here," he said, "if you don't mind. I can see you better."

It was wonderful here with her. Almost from the beginning he thought, I'm never going to want to go home, and he thought he must watch it, so he began worrying too soon for fear it was time to go.

Rosalie said, "We've got years to cover, Hobey—ages." And they began. They asked each other many questions about how it went for both of them, what life was like; and Hobey heard a little bit about the years at the school, and a little of how she lived now, and how much she traveled. She was brief about her answers, though. He was the exhaustive one. It was so easy to talk to her—the hard thing was not to go on and on. "I'm talking much too much," he said once, breaking off.

"You're not. Don't stop. I'm having a lovely time."

Change Opening Date for Alaska Salmon Fishing

June 28 Set for Bristol Bay Area

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP).—Opening date for red salmon fishing in the Bristol Bay, Alaska, area has been advanced one day to June 28, the Department of Interior announced today in issuing the Alaska

Interior Secretary Harold Ickes said fewer changes in the rules for protecting Alaskan commercial fisheries had been made than for many years past, because transportation conditions and other wartime problems made it inadvisable to hold the usual public hearings.

All commercial fishing has been prohibited in the small Ugashik district, while the minimum mesh requirements for gill nets in salmon fishing in the Icy Strait, Western, Easter, Clarence Strait and southern districts have been deleted from the 1943 rules. The mesh requirements were begun for the first time in 1942.

An increase in the herring catch quota of 50,000 barrels will permit a total take of 200,000 barrels in the Kodiak area from July 1 to October 15. An increase in the Southeastern Alaska quota will permit a catch of 100,000 barrels during the period June 1 to September 30 in specified waters. The three six-day closed periods effective in the 1942 season in the Kodiak area quota waters have been revoked.

Additional protection has been given the odd-year pink salmon runs in the Cook Inlet area, in the Karluk region of the Kodiak area, and in the southern district of the Southeastern Alaska area, by making the usual earlier odd-year seasonal dates effective, Ickes said. Valdez Arm in the Prince William Sound area, heretofore opened to commercial fishing later than in other sections of the area, has been closed to fishing on the regular seasonal closing date of August 5.

No action was taken toward adjusting fish trap activities, Ickes said, because any steps in that direction will depend on the outcome of plans to consolidate cannery operations for the duration of the war.

Admiral Robert is Chief of Government at Martinique, an island in the Caribbean north of Trinidad, where the United States has a base.

Two-year-old Jennifer Bligden made a great hit with the Duke of Gloucester at a Coventry munitions factory inspection. After giving the Duchess of Gloucester a bouquet, she toddled up to the Duke and gave him her toy engine.

Cargo Steamers Being Converted to Tankers

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP).—One 10,000-ton cargo ship, built under supervision of Government-owned Wartime Merchant Shipping Ltd., has been converted into an oil tanker and four more ships of the same size now are "in process of being converted," Munitions Minister Howe advised the House today.

In a reply brought down at the request of Rodney Adamson (Prog. Con., York West), the minister also said that "contracts have recently been awarded for three 3,700-ton oil tankers."

In addition to the oil-carrying vessels being provided under the Government programme, eight or more vessels have been "built or converted as oil tankers by private companies" since 1939, Mr. Howe said.

OTTAWA, March 1 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in the House of Commons that no detachment of the United States Air Force is stationed in Canada on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, but that from time to time United States aircraft and personnel operate at various points in Canada with Dominion consent.

East Indians to Ask For Vote in Meeting With Cabinet Today

The privilege of exercising their franchise will be asked today by East Indians residing in British Columbia when representatives from many parts of the province confer with the Cabinet at the Parliament Buildings.

In support of their demand, East Indian spokesmen yesterday quoted published statements of Professor H. F. Angus, British Columbia economist now with the State Department at Ottawa. It was suggested that the franchise be extended not only to East Indians but to other Asiatics now permanent residents of Canada.
